Nation Awaiting History-Making Address

WASHINGTON—(Thursday)—(AP) — Thousands of Americans roared a welcome to Gen. Douglas MacArthur early today as he flew into Washington for a history-making address to congress.

Wheels of MacArthur's four-engined silver transcontinental plane touched National airport at 11:31 p. m. (CST).

The joint chiefs of staff and highest ranking members of the house and senate were among several thousand who stood on the moonlit field to greet the returning five-star war hero, deposed from his Far Eastern commands by President Truman.

Women cheered shrilly and both men and women waved flags, handkerchiefs and their hats.

Honor Guard On Hand

Lining both sides of the ramp an honor guard stood at present arms.

High dignitaries of the government rushed into the small space between the soldiers standing stiffly at attention and crowded around MacArthur to shake hands.

Crowd In Close

The crowd behind lines of soldiers made no attempt to break toward the general, but the dignitaries crowded in so closely that photographers quickly began having difficulty lining up the general and his wife for the pictures many of them had come from distant points to make.

Moves Toward Auto

The crowd again broke into cheers as the general moved through the official group slowly toward the awaiting automobile.

The president's military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan snapped to a crisp salute as the general left the plane.

MacArthur smiled and said:

Republican Leader Dies After A Lengthy Illness

SEN. VANDENBERG, republican of Michigan, a thrifty harness maker's son who rose to the rank of an American statesman, died Wednesday night in Grand Rapids.

Foreign Policy Expert In His 68th Year

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich—(AP)—Sen. Arthur H. Vanderberg died Wednesday night.

Death came quietly to Michigan's republican senior senator after a long illness, 27 days following his 67th birthday.

Sen. Vandenberg had been fighting tenaciously to regain his health since surgery Oct. 3, 1949, for removal of the upper lobe of his left lung. The operation was performed at University of Michigan hospital, Ann Arbor.

He recovered and returned briefly to his senate duties. In April of 1950 he underwent a second major operation at Washington's Georgetown hospital for removal of a tumor from his spine.

In an official statement, his physician, Dr. A. B. Smith, announced that death resulted from complications of a long illness following surgery.

Returning to Grand Rapids for convalescence, the senator suffered a relapse last November. After six weeks in a local hospital he confidently reported plans for a return to Washington in January.

Wife Died in June

But a second relapse Feb. 27 from which he failed to rally weakened him and his condition became hopeless.

At his bedside when death came were his three children, Arthur H. Vandenberg, jr., Mrs. John Bailey and Mrs. Elizabeth Pfeiffer, and Dr. Smith, a long-time friend.

The senator's wife, Mrs. Hazel Vandenberg, died last June in Washington.

Death came in his sleep to the veteran senator at 8:40 p.m. (CST). In a statement, the senator's son, Arthur H. Vandenberg, jr., disclosed for the first time that nearly a year elapsed after a tumor was discovered in Vandenberg's left lung before it was removed by surgery.

Disregards Own Welfare

The delay was against the advice of doctors, the son said, but the senator inisisted on seeing the North Atlantic treaty and the inter-American treaty through congress "without regard to his personal welfare."

It was also disclosed for the first time that Vandenberg had been under treatment for a minor heart ailment for the last 25 years.

The senator's death ended a career that started in obscurity as a thrifty harness maker's son, carried Vandenberg to renown as a newspaper editor and led finally to the U. S. senate.

There served for 23 consecutive ars, becoming president pro-tem of the senate and chairman of the senate's foreign relations committee in the 80th congress. Twice he was a top possibility for the republican nomination for president.

Planned to Retire.

Until death intruded, he had planned to retire after 1952.

News of Vandenberg's death underlined a hot political question: Who will be his successor?

In the first place, the successor almost surely will be a democrat, swinging the party alignment in the senate to 50-46 in favor of the democrats. Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who will do the appointing, is a democrat.

Talk of a successor has been going on since Vandenburg made the announcement in 1949 that he would not run again. In the same year, illness came along to puncture his promise.

At that time, the senator was at the height of his prestige—acknowledged leader of the GOP in foreign policy affairs and a senior adviser to the nation's leaders.

Although ill, Vandenberg led debate on the big foreign policy question of the moment—the proposed North Atlantic pact. He helped gain passage of the measure and then, in October, 1949, consented to an operation.

His wife, the former Hazel Whittaker, died on June 10, 1950. Sen. Vandenberg stayed on alone in Washington until last fall. Then he came home—for the last time.

Sen. Vandenberg leaves two daughters and a son, Mrs. John Bailey and Mrs. Edward Pfeiffer both of Grand Rapids, and Arthur Vandenberg, jr. They are children of his first marriage to Elizabeth Watson in 1907. She died in 1916 Vandenberg married Hazel Whittaker of Fort Wayne, Ind., in 1918.

Arthur Vandenberg, jr., who served his father as secretary for many years, recently had been stationed in Brazil with the Rockefeller foundation.

YMCA Plan For Building Is Changed

Present Facilities To Be Expanded

The previously-considered new building program for the Lincoln Y.M.C.A. has been set aside in place of expanding present facilities, according to J. E. Kniffin, general secretary.

A combined meeting of the board of directors and trustees unanimously adopted recommendations of a special planning committee that suggested replacement of the non-fireproof section with a modern addition.

May Add Sixth Floor.

The committee proposed also that, if additional space is needed, a sixth floor could be added to the present five-story building.

Considered with plans for a new addition was a recommendation that a "definite analysis be made of future program needs of the community."

The planning committee announced that arrangements have been made with the national headquarters of YMCA to begin by April 30 a study of expansion needs.

Scoutmasters Set Housing Survey Plans

About 50 Lincoln scoutmasters met at the Y.M.C.A. Wednesday to complete plans for the housing survey to be conducted by the Boy Scouts.

Mayor Victor Anderson and Ray Ramsey, city personnel director, spoke to the scoutmasters on the city's interest in the survey. The mayor stressed the fact that the information to be gathered is of vital importance to city officials in carrying out their duties.

Territories to be covered were assigned and material for use in carrying out the survey was distributed. The survey will be started April 25 and will take about a week to complete.

Morris Siegel, Lincoln co-ordinator for civil defense, has requested public support for the undertaking.

"Everyone should be aware of the need for this survey," he said, "and we request that everyone co-operate with the Scouts by supplying the necessary information."

Creamery Fire Fought Three Hours

Thousands Pounds Cheese Damaged

For over three hours Wednesday firemen fought to clear a creamery storage room of smoke and douse a fire they could scarcely see.

Five-pound cartons of cheese became ignited and filled a large basement cold room at the Beatrice Foods Co., 726 L, with solid, acrid smoke. Damage is estimated at "several thousand dollars."

For more than an hour the first waves of firemen had to work in breathing masks. Several gasoline motors were set up on the street level to provide power for electric lights and fans used in the storage room.

Chief E. P. Feaster said that, although the fire was put out fairly soon after the department arrived, the firemen who did the job didn't know what was burning and, in fact, almost couldn't see the flames.

The cheese, which is boxed in cardboard, was probably set afire when sparks from a cutting torch being used on the floor above fell into the cold room, the chief said.

Four large ventilation fans were rushed into play to try to drive the smoke up an elevator shaft and outside the building. Progress in accomplishing the job was unsually slow, Chief Feaster said. The large storage room's own ventilation system was evidently knocked out by the fire.

The firemen, who answered the alarm at 3:28 p.m., used booster lines to douse the flames.

J. M. Spray, company manager, said that damage "undoubtedly will run into several thousand dollars." He pointed out that much of the room's cork insulation, as well as the food, was damaged by the flames.

"Without checking an inventory, I would estimate theamount of cheese in the room at 15,000 to 20,000 pounds," Spray said. Not all of this was damaged.

Acheson Restates Policies

'Problem Is Global Not Just Far East'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—On the eve of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's speech to congress, Secretary of State Dean Acheson Wednesday night said an extension of the war beyond Korea would "gravely imperil world peace."

In a speech to the Women's National Press club, Acheson declared that the United States would never choose to expand the war.

"It will be clear to the world that if there is an extension of the conflict in Korea, or if a world conflict should result from it, the responsibility will rest squarely on the Kremlin and its agents in Peiping," he said.

He avoided criticism of MacArthur, but what he said was in line with President Truman's statements that he removed the Far East commander for advocating policies which ran the very great risk of starting a general war."

Pacific Pact

He reviewed administration Far East policy shortly after President Truman announced that the U. S. is moving toward an "arrangement" with Australia and New Zealand as part of a strategic plan for the defense of the Pacific against aggression, similar to the North Atlantic pact.

Acheson in his address noted that the country had just been engaged in a great debate upon Europe's role in maintaining peace, and said another review, this time for our Far East policy, appeared inevitable. He advised against "the fatal error of regarding these policies as being divorced from one another."

"We are dealing with a global problem, which does not correspond to the artificial divisions which sometimes claim our attention," he said.

Huskerville Resident Puts Out Own Fire

When firemen arrived at the Huskerville apartment of Wilford Schmidt Wednesday about 3:45 p.m., they found a small blaze already extinguished.

Schmidt put the fire out himself after an oil stove overflowed in his apartment.

No damage was reported.

Council Gets Word Lashing At Traffic System Session

New Plan Recommended Would Cost Between $250,000 And $350,000

Lincoln's city council received a verbal lashing Wednesday as a new city traffic system was presented to the Lincoln traffic commission.

The new system, including a new and modern signal system, more three lane traffic streets and controls on curb parking, was presented to the group by George W. Barton of Chicago, Lincoln"s consulting traffic engineer.

The council criticism came from Al Lew, a member of the traffic commission, who claimed the commission had made studies and recommended to the council nearly everything that was in the Barton report but that the council had merely shelved the recommendations.

Approval of the Barton report, said Lew, is merely a repetition of what the commission has done on its own already.

He told members of the city planning commission attending the meeting that "if the planning commission gets as much co-operation out of the city council as the traffic commission has then they won't get very much done."

The council's position was somewhat defended by John Comstock, councilman present at the meeting, who affirmed that "the city can't do anything along any lines if they don't get some more money."

Commission Chairman Joe Fenton advised the group that whether the traffic report was old or new it was good and gave the city an over-all plan that could be carried out in place of the usual piecemeal method of procedure.

"What we need now," said Fenton, "is the courage to start something and carry it out."

The Barton plan that he referred to calls first for the development of a number of major three lane streets. This would be accomplished by the prohibition of curb parking on one side and in some cases both sides of certain streets. The plan would be to have two lanes for inbound traffic in the morning, two outbound in the evening and a passing lane at other times.

Proposed next is a co-ordinated signal system to facilitate the heavy flow of traffic in one direction, to regulate speed and to allow for safe pedestrian traffic.

The three lane streets would require the purchase of traffic lights to guide motorists in the proper use of lanes.

Barton next recommended, after completion of the city by-pass traffic routes, extension of pedestrian crosswalks in the downtown area out into the parking lanes.

On parking Barton recommended that 30 minute and two hour meters be used in the central core area and two and three hour meters from the core area out. Only a limited number of 12 minute meters and no one hour meters were suggested.

Barton's plan, when completed, was estimated by him to cost about $250,000 to $300,000. The downtown traffic signal program would account for about $105,200.

The traffic commission, at Barton's suggestion, approved a recommendation to the city council that the above plan be carried out. It also recommended to the council that all new parking meter funds be earmarked for traffic and parking plans

Farmers 'Gambling' On Good Oat Crop

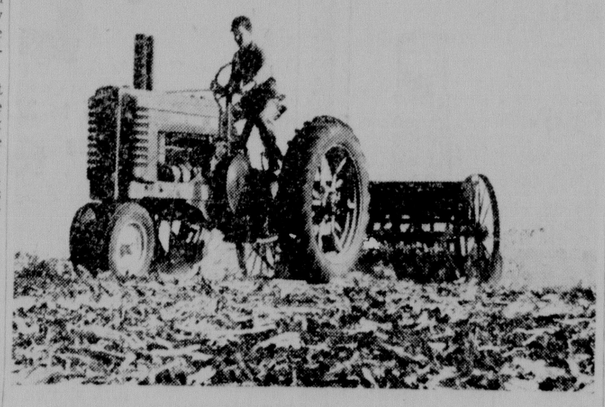

BY HOMER FINE
(Farm Editor, The Star)

Widespread "gambling" cropped up in eastern Nebraska recently and is going on "right out in the open," it was revealed by an unimpeccable source today.

Sheriffs, riot squads and post office inspectors, who may have been on duty all night, can relax and have a second cup of coffee—the "gambling" is strictly legal Because of the wet and backward spring this year, many farmers in the area must decide whether to plant seed oats late and gamble on getting a crop, or abandon oat plans and put in corn or some other crop.

The planter's rule of thumb says oats sown on April 19 may yield on the average about 38 bushels to the acre, or only two-thirds of a crop. Each day oats are not in the ground after April 1, according to college of agriculture studies, the yield drops one bushel an acre.

Yet there have been notable exceptions to the rule, when late oats produced high wields, when wet springs kept farmers out of the fields during March and much of April. And this year a substantial acreage of oats will be sown.

GAMBLING ON AN OAT CROP—Bruce Robinson, who farms eight miles south of Lincoln, sowing a 15-acre field of late oats. (Star Photo.)

A number of farmers will sow oats this year as a nurse crop to get legumes started. Regardless of whether oats produce grain or not, they intend to carry on without disturbing crop rotation plans.

With corn allotments off for the year and the USDA urging increases in corn acreage, a part of the planned oatland in southeastern Nebraska will probably go into corn. At any rate, farmers who are sowing oats this late in the season are gambling on a crop.

Hwachon Reservoir Captured

U.N. Pierces Vital Offensive Triangle

TOKYO —(Thursday)— (AP) —U.N. troops captured the big Hwachon hydro-electric reservoir in North Korea Wednesday after its abandonment by withdrawing communist forces.

The Chinese had loosed some of the reservoir waters a week ago in a futile effort to swamp the allied advance northward.

The dam is 880 feet long, 250 high and backs up a lake 11 miles long. It formerly was a major source of electric power for Seoul, the Korean capital.

The entry was reported today by U. S. Eighth army headquarters. Field dispatches said communist forces continued withdrawals ahead of U. S. tank forces.

Strategic Base

Hwachon, seven miles north of the 38th parallel, is the eastern base of the Hwachon-Chorwon-Kumhwa triangle where the reds recently had been massing troops with reported big offensive intentions.

But U.N. troops now are advancing toward Chorwon, the triangle's western base 18 miles inside North Korea. Bold patrols also were stabbing close to Kumhwa, apex of the triangle.

Allied commanders say these tactics are keeping massed red manpower off balance.

The two tank-infantry spearheads met artillery, mortar and machine-gun fire near Chorwon and Chigyong.

A dense smoke haze still covered the western and central fronts. The smoke pall probably resulted from allied artillery and air strikes plus a natural haze—rather than an effort by the reds to conceal movements.

Two Lincolnites To Toastmasters District Contest

Ted Thompson and Paul Benedict will represent Lincoln in the district Toastmasters speech contest to be held in Omaha early in May.

They won that honor Wednesday night by winning the area contest at the Y.W.C.A. Thompson, representing the Lincoln Toastmasters, was awarded first place and Benedict of the Capital Toastmasters, second.

William McMullen served as toastmaster and Howard Kirtley was topic master.

C. W. Lemont, area governor of the organization, had charge of general arrangements for the event.

Two Men Named To Attend Milk Study

The city-county board of health Wednesday night appointed two men to attend a milk sanitation short course next month at Sylvan Lake, S. D.

Named to atttend the course sponsored by the Topeka field training center of the United States Public Health Service and the South Dakota state board of health were Dr. Harry Hubbard and Gene Cotter. The course will be held June 25-29.

The health board also approved a change in wording of communicable disease warning signs, making them warning isolation signs for informing people of the presence of a communicable disease in a house.

Budget plans for the year and the recently passed milk ordinance code were also discussed.

Capital Greets Gen. M'Arthur

"I'm glad to see you Harry."

Vaughan replied, "Glad to see you, sir."

Pushing his way through the crowd ahead of MacArthur, Vaughan said, "Well, that was simple."

Tumultuous Scene.

MacArthur plane had made the trip from San Francisco in eight hours and seven minutes. He had left San Francisco at 3:24 p.m. (CST) on the last leg of his 9,000-mile flight from Tokyo to Washington.

In the tumultuous scene as the MacArthurs stepped from the plane, Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, who fought with MacArthur in the Philippines and was captured after the fall of Corregidor, finally pushed through the surging crowd. MacArthur grabbed him by both shoulders and said, "John, it's wonderful to see you."

MacArthur's party reached the Statler hotel shortly after midnight (c.s.t.) after a drive from the airport through downtown Washington behind a cavalacade of Washington police.

A crowd of several hundred outside the hotel cheered lustily.

World attention will be focussed on MacArthur's address to both houses of congress at 11:30 a.m. (CST) Thursday.

Will Defend Policies

All major radio and television networks will carry the address, which will give MacArthur an opportunity to defend the Far Eastern policies that brought about his dismissal and have widened a deep split, in and out of congress, over U.S. foreign policy.

Television cameras will follow MacArthur's triumphal procession down Pennsylvania avenue, after his appearance before congress, to a Waashington monument welcoming ceremony (1:15 p.m., CST) in which some of the nation's highest officials will take part.

After the ceremony, MacArthur plans to drop in at the Daughters of the American Revolution convention, and also to visit the convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. House Republican Leader Martin (R-Mass) said the general expects to make a brief talk to the D.A.R. around 2 p. m. (CST), but doesn't plan to speak at the editors' meeting.

Fewer Candidates And More Issues At May 1 Election

In less than two weeks—on May 1 Lincoln voters will go to the polls in the city's general election to vote for fewer candidates but more issues than were before them at the primary.

The added issue, the $6,000,000 school bond proposal, will also entail added work and expense for election officials. The proposal will mean three ballots instead of two and the voters signature on two record books in place of the one at the primary..

The school board, however, will pay the added cost of the school bond voting.

While voters were faced with a total of 19 candidates at the primary they will only have 13 names before them at the general. On one ballot will be the names of two candidates for mayor with one to be voted on and elected, and the names of six candidates for the city council with three to be voted on and elected.

A second ballot will contain the names of four candidates for election to the school board with two to be voted on and elected. A third ballot will carry the school bond issue. The polls will open on Tuesday at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

Wall Street Will Be Quiet For MacArthur

NEW YORK — (INS) — The New York stock exchange announced today that it will suspend trading for two hours on Friday in honor of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Sales Tax May Not Be Dead

Burney Says Will Try To Override Committee Action

Rejection by the legislature's revenue committee of a bill imposing a sales tax left the introducer, Sen Dwight Burney of Hartington, undaunted. He will attempt to get the unicameral to override the committee decision, he stated Wednesday.

Sen. Burney is a veteran in seeking enactment of the sales tax. He was co-introducer of a bill in 1947, when it was killed in committee but brought to the floor for discussion.

In 1949, he introduced the bill again, and it was reported out of committee but failed of passage.

"Do I look as though I would quit now?" he smiled. "I have obtained considerable more information favorable to the bill since the hearing was held."

The Hartington solon has personally investigated sales tax operations in other states since he started seeking a broadening of the tax base five years ago.

The Burney bill would impose a 2 per cent levy on all purchases in excess of 21 cents, and would raise an estimated $25,000,000. It is planned to furnish relief to property taxes.

Opponents of the bill are convinced it will become an added tax rather than a replacement, and will place a heavy burden on low income groups.

Both sides have stacks of statistics and a lengthy debate is probable when Burney moves to raise the bill.

Students Honored

Raymond called for an understanding of the normal life in the United States and in the world. He quoted the father of attorneys and men of law, Oliver Wendell Holmes, with the phrase that "law is the witness and external deposit of our moral life."

The Chicago attorney pointed out that "one of the things law should be is a service of human relationships as expressed in rules of conduct."

Because of the uncertainties of the 1951 public, Raymond said, the student of law today must be able to understand and interpret the Declaration of Independence and Constitution, and must know to the letter the Bill of Rights.

He asserted that law may lead to high things to those who stay in it, as well as those who pass beyond—but not above—to other forms of command.

Standing Recognition

The law students sang out for a standing recognition before the banqueters of the judges who sat with the guest speaker at the head table.

Responding were members of the Nebraska Supreme court; Clerk of the Court George Turner, Judge Harvey Johnson, Omaha, United States District court of appeals; Clarence A. Davis, president of the State Bar association, and Federal Judge John W. Delehant, Lincoln.

Prof. Frederick Buetel, instructor at the law school, was greeted with "Old Friends Never Die" and a standing ovation.

Speaker Just Back From Korean War

A Y.M.C.A field worker, who was forced out of Seoul twice by invading North Koreans, will be in Lincoln Thursday to speak at a noon luncheon at the Y.M.C.A

He is Robbins Strong, whose appearance here is sponsored by the World Services committee.

Strong spent years in China under the Nationalist government. He was in Nanking when the city was taken by Chinese communists and he lived there a year under the new rule.

He was transferred to Seoul in 1950 but was there only a short time before it fell to the communists. He fled to Japan.

After the United Nations forces recaptured Seoul last September he returned and lived in the city until it was again taken by the communists.

Firemen Kept Busy With Nine Alarms Within Three Hours

Firemen didn't play much pinochle Wednesday afternoon.

A total of nine alarms in three hours kept them unusually busy.

It all started at 3:28 p.m. when all engines and trucks and the aerial at station No. 1 responded to an alarm at the Beatrice Foods Co. 726 L.

The apparatus and men not needed there didn't even get back to the station until almost 7 p.m. They and men from other stations, were kept busy responding to eight more alarms in various parts of the city.

The last was reported at 6:31 p.m. These were all still alarms; fires requiring less equipment and men to fight them. Only one engine goes to a still alarm fire.

The alarms ranged from closet fires to grass fires to wiring trouble. None of the stills was serious.

26 Coeds Home From Athletic Federation Meet

A week's trip to Ann Arbor, Mich., has ended for 26 coeds from six Nebraska universities and colleges who represented their state at the biennial convention of the Athletic Federation of College Woman.

Suggests Lower Taxes Through Loans Without Interest

By J. Gordon Roberts

This reader throws me a hot potato which is much too hot for me to hold. I am, therefore, passing it on to other readers of this column without further comment:

"Why can't we all chip in and lend Uncle Sam this money 'for free'? No exceptions — all rearmament and war loans from a certain date onward, right smack on the counter without charges, fees, interests, discounts, just like we would do in our own family.

"I'm getting 'dumber' all the time. But we do agree that Uncle Sam is a mighty good payer-upper. And it looks like a sure bet that if 60-million of us get on the mark and show that red mob that we really rate the freedom, democracy and patriotism that we talk about, we should easily supply those billions as required to pay the necessary bills.

"Then to clinch the right to wear the No. 1 dunce cap of the year, I conclude with the following . . . if we would really cough up the money to run this No. 3 show, for free and no interest, we won't have to be in a hurry to pay it back except on emergency demand, and hence, therefore, ipso facto, and consequently, could kind-of spread that tax out a bit, thin it down I mean to about say one-half or one-third of what the experts are talking about. Uncle Sam (meaning us) could 'have a heart' for the taxpayers (meaning us) and occasionally get into a huddle with the loanees (meaning us) to extend the loans or settle up, as the situation called for after we flushed little Joe Stalin out of his skunk hole.

"It will be no wonder if the guns, big and small, bang me and my simple answer down. But I will wonder why so many will so quickly miss a chance to cut instead of raise 1951 and 1952 taxes. Especially those who have already carried the loads of two or even one other war. Eh?"

MacArthur vs. Bradley

By J. E. LAWRENCE

(By wire Wednesday afternoon from Washington, D. C.

The master of dramatics and the battlefields has Washington in a tizzy. Never has the deposed Pacific commander displayed a better sense of timing. Simply by giving no hint of what he intends to say when he faces congress General MacArthur has the seasoned staff of newsmen here tearing its hair, biting its fingernails.

Washington was making all the necessary plans to give its returning military hero a thunderous welcome. The streets were to be bedecked in flags, bands on hand to strike out the tunes, and if the weatherman is kind—anywhere near as kind as he was 24 hours earlier—it was anticipated a million would be on hand to cheer General MacArthur.

That did not relieve the newsmen. Seldom has there been greater anticipation, and seldom greater uncertainty as to what will be tossed at the reading public. For once any attempt to anticipate MacArthur's words fell into the classification of living dangerously.

Twenty-four hours after the storm broke over Tokyo we said to the readers of The Lincoln Star that the decision to dismiss MacArthur from military command was a military one. Involved, of course, was the over-all issue of policy in the Far East, but in connection with policy only the thinnest of thin lines divide policy from military action.

There was ample confirmation today for the statement that involved in MacArthur's case was a military decision. General Omar Bradley, a soldier's soldier, quiet-spoken, now chief of staff, took the issue of Pacific strategy direct to General MacArthur. In Chicago, General Bradley told an audience that to follow the MacArthur line in Korea, including the bombing of bases in Manchuria and the use of Chinese Nationalist forces on the mainland, was to invite the third world war.

★

There was no pulling of punches by General Bradley. While he made no mention of his brother officer by name, there could be no question where Bradley stood or what his views are. He drew one fine distinction that has been at the core of current discussion—a distinction generally overlooked. Nothing thus far, General Bradley indicated, in Korea, in the activities of the communist air arm, had justified the bombing of Manchurian air bases. Which was merely to repeat what the news columns have been saying for months—namely that air support has been lacking at all times. But the big day is ahead, and after the big day, and the big week climaxing with an ear-splitting reception in New York City, weeks stretch ahead.

★

Where will it lead? Who has the answer to that? In this city, curious combination of loose gossip and historic developments, the latter recorded in the archives by documents, one can hear any kind of a story if he keeps his ears to the ground.

Underneath the superficial pageantry of a nation of warm-hearted people, it will be the devout wish of all Americans that some benefits can be harvested from the controversy. The blight that threatens results is the partisanship that has been having full emotional play.

A cartoon in the staid Washington Star illustrates it. It showed Bob Taft, and Minority Leader Joe Martin. Martin was seated at a desk, his feet placed on it. Taft was standing beside him, inquiring "Who is Mr. Republican?" A thousand words could not penetrate the fog up on Capitol hill more devastatingly. The circle within the circle of MacArthur's defenders frequently gives an impression of running around in circles. And Senator Cain did not make the republican inner circle any happier with his proposal for a declaration of war against China—and in the event congress has no stomach for that step the decision to get out of Korea. Senator Cain had Senator Taft and Senator Millikin of Colorado spouting words with machine-gun rapidity.

Senator Wherry was flabbergasted.

The official record will reveal that the Nebraskan, after having marched up the hill at the heels of MacArthur, marched even more rapidly down. Senator Wherry wants no war declaration against China regardless of what his language may sound like on occasion.

This has been a busy week. We have talked with a lot of people, kept a lot of appointments, and now the sessions of the American Society of Newspaper Editors get under way. The program set up weeks ago may become a casualty of the battle between General MacArthur and the administration. A column could be written about the president's cancellation of his address to the editors, but to no purpose. Most of the editors if they are lucky will be trailing at General MacArthur's heels, seeking tickets or a place on the curb when the show goes by.

I had lunch yesterday with the secretary of the navy, Francis Matthews. It paved the way for a meeting with a remarkable warrior, the chief of naval operations, Admiral Sherman. We think the average American would experience a feeling of relief in the briefest of contacts with this man who directs America's two-ocean navy. He gives an impression of great strength, character and purpose in these days of dangerous living.

Halting Missouri River Funds

WASHINGTON—In its present mood, congress may pull the purse strings taunt in a field of development of greatest concern to the peoples to the west of the Missouri. There is always the likelihood that congress will change its mind, and mellow when it gets down to the unpleasant job of telling the home folks they have reached the bottom of the barrel.

★

But this congress has only one thought, unlike some of its predecessors, which can be summed up in the words, "mobilizing American strength." The order is out that no new construction shall be undertaken. Given literal application, it would mean that the Bureau of Reclamation is finished in its work in the Missouri basin at the end of 1953 and while there have been no official discussions, the assumption is that the Army Engineers will bump into the same roadblock sooner or later.

★

A house sub-committee pondering upon appropriations for the interior department was told that the current fiscal year represents a drastic reduction in construction progress on the Missouri basin project, and that if the "no-new-undertakings" order continues, there will be a virtual suspension of the basin program at the end of 1953. Originally the department had asked for $107,438,787 for the fiscal year of 1952, but the sharp knife of the budget bureau lopped off nearly fifty millions before submitting it to congress. Its fate there is still undetermined.

★

Admittedly the program of conservation of natural resources faces the toughest sledding of the last 15 years, including even the war years of the 'forties.

★

It is caught in the squeeze of the demands that the federal treasury place itself on a "pay-as-you-go" basis and the enormous expenditures required for rearmament of America and her allies, estimated at between 70 and 90 billions, the final figure depending upon congress. This is truly a hazardous era for undertakings which have pushed the clock ahead in states west of the Missouri river from 25 to 50 years through the expansion of irrigation, through the program of electrification, and a soil conservation program of infinite value.

★

But congress has its dander up. In its present mood, there is nothing President Truman could do to swing the scales in favor of a continuation of the program of conservation of natural resources, and very little that the administrative agencies under him could accomplish. A new source of danger is taking shape. Unlike the senate, where each state has two representatives, control of the house, and control of the purse strings, rests with the metropolitan areas and the highly industrialized sections of the country. They have the blocs of votes to write nearly any kind of a ticket they desire. Senator Paul Douglas, a power in the upper chamber, one of its outstanding men, honest and capable, symbolizes to some degree this rising resentment of the industrial and metropolitan areas against the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars in river basin development.

★

Douglas is not an enemy of the conservation of natural resources. His expressed criticism of appropriations for it grows out of his feeling that something must give at this time, and in this case it happens to be domestic developments. He will have support in the present session that was lacking a year ago.

★

Not many people in the Missouri basin have given a great deal of thought to the possibility of a temporary suspension of the basin program. They have taken its continuance for granted, and unless they can convince congress, providing the armament program takes on a ten to 20-year pull, that the basin program is in itself a part of national defense, their hopes will be shattered. But for the time being, at least, federal funds are going to be scarce. Local areas and local communities should shape their thinking to that unpleasant fact.

From Farm To Town

Briefly it appeared that the drift of population from farm to urban areas that has been in progress in this country for more than a quarter of a century, had levelled off. But on the basis of the latest census report, it is clear that the rural regions are still losing population. More than 1,300,000 workers left the farms in the last decade, the census bureau reported. The drift from the farm, however, was not at the expense of production. Improved machinery, in part, is the explanation for the continuation of a loss in farm population. It takes fewer people to do the same amount of work.

Nothing Like Consistency

In a world teeming with dramatic events and stirring controversies, one small voice remains unchanged—Pravda, official Moscow newspaper of the Communist party. It has predicted once again that the United States is headed for a "tremendous economic crash." This is something like the sports writer who picked the Philadelphia Phillies to win the National league pennant every year, and finally cashed in last season. If Pravda continues its prognostications long enough, some day it might be right!

On Safe Ground

Senator Kenneth Wherry last week unburdened himself of a classic comment. "Anything can happen now," the Nebraskan was quoted as saying. Well, it always has!

MacARTHUR WILL RETURN TO SCENE OF UNHAPPY DAYS

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—It is symbolic that Douglas MacArthur has twice ridden up and down Pennsylvania avenue on historic ooccasions, each time under unpopular presidents, and each time when the principle of civilian versus military government was at large.

The first time was nearly 20 years ago under the Hoover administration, when a cautious, timid president had been so slow in handling a group of veterans lobbying for a bonus that extreme military measures were finally used to evict them.

The second time is today under a president with more courage than caution, whose injudicious utterances and precipitous actions have brought his administration to the same low state of unpopularity as Herbert Hoover's.

Significant also may be the fact that MacArthur's previous advance down Pennsylvania avenue behind tanks and cavalry, drove a decisive nail in the Hoover political coffin and led to the republican party's disastrous defeat.

Today, the tables are turned, and MacArthur's second ride up Pennsylvania avenue may drive a nail in the Truman political coffin and lead to the democratic party's defeat.

The tables are turned also in another interesting manner. MacArthur, after driving out the bonus army, was unpopular in the extreme. The Veterans of Foreign Wars, which praises him today, was bitter in its denunciation then. And the Scripps-Howard newspapers, which champion MacArthur today, felt quite differently then.

"Revolution has been threatened, General MacArthur, chief of staff of the U. S. army, announces from the White House," said the Scripps-Howard Washington News. "This is untrue. The veterans, ridden down and slashed by MacArthur's troops, were insurrectionists, according to the general. This is untrue . . . Revolutions cannot be threatened by unarmed men. The bonus marchers were unarmed. What a pitiful spectacle is that of the great American government, mightiest in the world, chasing unarmed men, women and children with army tanks."

There are other changes between that march nearly two decades ago and that of today. MacArthur himself, a man with a photographic eye, will doubtless be the first to notice them.

As he leaves the capitol and goes up the avenue toward the White House, he will pass along the Mall, one of the most beautiful parks in Washington—stretching from the foot of Capitol Hill to the Lincoln Memorial.

MacArthur has never seen this park before. For, during that other march down Pennsylvania avenue, it was partly a grove of trees around dilapidated houses, headquarters for the 20,000 nondescript, pathetic veterans who came to Washington during those depression days seeking relief for their families.

MacArthur will also pass by the Mellon art gallery, one of the most beautiful buildings in Washington, which he has not seen before. It was at this point, when he passed on his previous march down the avenue, that a Negro veteran waved a big American flag and dared MacArthur's cavalry to advance.

Two troopers brought their sabres to salute. Others stood at attention. An officer gave a command. The Negro was ridden down.

The scenes on that other march down Pennsylvania avenue were at one time awful, gruesome and amusing — booing spectators, tanks, tear gas, veterans taunting troops. . . "Where were you during the Argonne?" . . . "Hoover's Cossacks." . . . "Bring on Bismarck!"

MacArthur would have escaped any blame had it not been for two things. As chief of staff he did not have to participate in the bonus army's eviction. It was a minor police operation which should have been commanded by a colonel from Fort Myer across the Potomac. Instead MacArthur sent for his full-dress uniform, changed in his office in the war department, and as chief of staff took personal command of the operation—to the accompaniment of newsreels and photographers.

His second mistake was to hold a press conference, which again was outside the line of duty, and during which he made unfortunate statements taking credit for the "victory."

"I have entered villages in wartime which have been in the grip of the enemy for three years," he announced, "and I know what their gratitude means. But never have I seen, even in those days, such expressions of gratitude as from the crowds today."

Historians, who will have a chance to view the events of the past week more dispassionately than the public comment of today, will be interested in evaluating the steps by which General MacArthur, a none-too-popular figure two decades ago, staged such a terrific popular comeback.

One reason, of course, is his brilliant handling of the occupation of Japan—a management of a conquered people which history will probably say far surpassed his military achievements.

But another reason for the change in public opinion is the fact that on that other march down Pennsylvania avenue, MacArthur was the evictor, the bonus army was the evicted. Now it is the other way around. MacArthur is the evicted—evicted from his command in Tokyo.

And the American public always sides with the evicted—as it did during that march down Pennsylvania avenue in June, 1932; as it does during today's march up the avenue; and as I hope it always will.

Washington Calling

GRAVE DAYS FOR A MAN WHO DIDN'T WANT TO BE PRESIDENT

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—On few other presidents in our history have the winds of controversy ever blown as fiercely as on the man who by a curious combination of circumstances now occupies the White House. And for Harry S. Truman the political barometer seems to be still falling, with the prospect for still stormier weather ahead.

Marquis Childs

Memory goes back to that fateful week in June, 1944, when in Chicago the democratic party was nominating Franklin D. Roosevelt for a fourth term. It was a dismal business with a kind of sullen and weary inevitability pressing down on most of the delegates. What remained to be done was somehow to get a vice presidential nominee out of this hot, disordered mass and go home.

Two or three of us were talking with Senator Truman in the sitting room of a suite high up in Stevens hotel on Chicago's lake front. My recollection of some of the things he said then as the decision was being made is as follows.

"I'm not seeking it. I tell you I don't want it. After every one of these big wars the troubles pile up and pile up and pile up. And I might happen to be in there, in that office, when it happened. Why, they'd throw everything at me but the kitchen sink. They tried to impeach Andy Johnson after the Civil war and they nearly did it, too. They'd probably try to impeach me. I'm not seeking it, I don't want it."

☆ ☆ ☆

Less than a year later Truman was president. The years immediately following saw a series of ups and downs in his standing in the country; violent swings of the Truman stock in the market of public opinion climaxed by his surprise victory in November, 1948.

But now at the start of his seventh year in the office the time of troubles that he anticipated seems to be at hand. And it is quite possible that it will get a lot worse before it gets any better. If the long-anticipated offensive by the Chinese communists should force back the United Nations armies, then the clamor would rise to an unprecedented pitch.

What seems to me to have been the gravest weakness of the administration during the past year is the lack of thorough staff planning. And this appears to be true even though Truman feels he has created the agencies through which careful planning can be achieved — conspicuously the national security council, where top officials funnel their views for group decisions.

The fault may lie in the failure to think through all the eventualities that can arise from a given situation. Because they are not thought through, an unexpected crisis arises and then hasty decisions are made in a crisis atmosphere. Those hasty decisions disregard still other eventualities, and so trouble is compounded.

It was in a crisis atmosphere that the Blair House conferences were held last June following the attack of the North Korean communists. The eventuality of an attack in force and its consequences had not been thought through. This may have been partly because of inadequate intelligence or improper intelligence evaluation.

At one of those conferences a high-ranking military man said emphatically that he knew that the communists would turn and run over the farthest hill to the north the moment they saw an American plane in the sky. Only one person at that conference had the thoughtfulness to say, "Yes, but what if they don't?"

The eventuality of a successful communist attack in force and what to do to meet it was not thoroughly thought through. This seems to have been true of the decision to dismiss General MacArthur.

The eventualities growing out of this step can be tremendous. A U.N. retreat would almost certainly bring a demand for use of the atomic bomb on the theory that since the president had discarded one of our major weapons in Asia, MacArthur, surely it was time to use all the weapons in our arsenal in order to prevent further disaster and save American lives. Such a demand has already come from Rep. Albert Gore of Tennessee.

Public dismay over a retreat and heavier losses could produce still another crisis decision. It might force use of the atomic bomb. And then the aim of preventing a third World war, which, I am convinced, the president holds with deep sincerity, would in all probability be lost. And not only the blame for the disaster, but the punishment as well could be expected to fall on him.

Nebraskans: In The Workshop And At Home

No. 77 of a series

—Star Staff Photo.

"A little more excitement" was what he wanted, and "a little more excitement" was what he got when Jack Knudtson wrote to Sgt. Carl Sanders, of the Nebraska Safety Patrol, one evening back in 1937. Today it's "Captain Sanders," commanding officer, and "Corporal Jack Knudtson," of the patrol's criminal investigation division.

A registered pharmacist and graduate of Creighton, he was working in an Omaha drugstore when he saw the notice of openings in the patrol. The letter and application blank exchange followed—and he was in.

☆ ☆ ☆

IN 1947, the patrol purchased a lie detector and Corporal Knudtson was sent to learn its operation. He is also well-qualified as a ballistics expert, and is known among Nebraska law men as an adept interrogator. Thus it is that he has worked on nearly every murder case in the state in the past four years, and on numerous minor cases, burglaries and such.

The matter of questioning "takes a lot of patience and ability to get along," he explains. There is the "sizing up" of the person concerned, and the attempt to discover his weaknesses. Logically, it's difficult to get anyone "to tell you about a murder because you have nothing to offer him. All he can think about is the penitentiary."

The best approach in the treatment of suspected criminals, Corporal Knudtson has found, is the honest one. "If you become known 'among thieves' as an honest dealer, you can get their confidence—and that helps." A murder case, he lists as the "driest"—until you get a lead, that is.

☆ ☆ ☆

JACK KNUDTSON comes from a family of officers. His father, Guy, was a detective sergeant when he retired after 31 years on the Omaha police force. His brother, Leo, is sergeant of the patrol's criminal - investigation unit at Scottsbluff.

Among his duties also is the questioning of pen inmates, etc., on behalf of county sheriffs and attorneys who are trying to solve crimes within their own jurisdiction. The nature of his work brings forth many speaking engagement invitations, and on the 19th of April, he'll appear on TV.

On call at all times, it's not unusual for him to have to roll out of bed in the middle of the night, summoned to a job. On one recent case, he worked 32 consecutive hours without rest. Excitement? That's what he was looking for—and that's what he found.

PRESIDENT'S COURAGE

Osceola, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am moved to write to express my admiration for President Truman's courage. He has shown unusual courage on many occasions, but he knew the storm of criticism that would be heaped on him when he recalled MacArthur and yet he had the courage to do what he knew was right. If congress had courage enough to stop pulling political wires and do what it knows is right, everything would work out for the best. As to calling Truman a tie salesman and all that cheap kind of thing, I recall that Abe Lincoln was called a backwoods man and rail splitter and other slurring names. If I remember my history he had to recall several generals, too, before he found the right one. As to the "weak man" in the White House, I think it is the "nit-wits" we elect to congress who are to blame. There are very few outstanding men in congress and the Nebraska members are not among them. I surely enjoy your editorials, and the articles by Drew Pearson and Marquis Childs.

PRESS AND COMMUNISM

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: Your recent radio talk on "Communism and the Press" was one of the best appraisals of the role of the press in democracy that I have ever heard. If your idea of the newspapers' obligations to a free people were followed by all American newspapers, we would have nothing to fear from communism.

IMMORTALITY

Comstock, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In answer to the one who signs his name "Interested," I stated the references were for immortality or eternal life. Rom. 2-7 says, "To them who by patient continuance in well-doing seek for Glory and Honor and Immortality, Eternal Life." Webster says, "Immortality: the state of being immortal, unending existence, also eternal, lasting forever."

What is the difference? Of course we don't have eternal life or immortality while here. We seek for that after death as it is promised us. 2 Tim. 2-15 says, "Study to show thyself approved unto God a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." Remember the Bible doesn't teach two different things to two different people. The Bible says lots of things it doesn't teach. And as to people praying for peace, prayer is for the Christian and not for the sinner. I mean the original sinner and not the one who has become a Christian and then fallen. Read St. John, 9-31.

E. H. FULLER.

A "NEBRASKAN'S" THANKS

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: My husband and I wish to thank you for including him in your "Nebraskans" series. Yes, he is a true Nebraskan and proud of it, and also proud that he has been able to carry on for 45 years, although it has seemed at times impossible because of floods, blizzards, and a few other obstacles too numerous to mention. We shall always remember the kindness and courtesy of Mr. Joe Vosoba, your reporter, in handling the job. The picture is so clear—mud, mailman, and the faithful little yellow jeep. Thank you once more.

Continued Basin Water Flow Study Okayed

Sioux City Supply Is Adequate

Inter-Agency Report Shows

YANKTON, S. D.— (AP) —The Missouri basin inter-agency committee Wednesday voted to retain its subcommittee to study adequacy of water flow. Its future studies will be a projection of average flow at Kansas City, Mo.

The study group reported that the flow at Sioux City, Ia., is ample to fill the demands of the comprehensive development program under the Pick-Sloan plan.

It said the regulated water supply of the river is adequate to meet the requirements of irrigation, agriculture, navigation, power development and other purposes for which the program was designed.

During discussion of the report John Dewey, representing Gov. Forrest Smith of Missouri at the session, said there was a need for further studies, "particularly below Sioux City."

Peterson Queries Dewey

Neither Governor Smith or Gov. John Bonner of Montana who have often questioned the adequacy of the flow for multi-purposes were at the fourth meeting of the inter-agency group.

Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska asked Dewey if Missouri was worried whether there would be enough water in view of the report.

"We are concerned about the future because of probable industrial expansion," Dewey said.

"Then we might as well make a similar study for Kansas City to eliminate the element of doubt," Peterson said.

How much will department of agriculture plans for holding rainfall on the land by on-the-farm conservation measures reduce the flow in the Missouri?

Approximately 3 per cent on the longtime average, the subcommittee concluded. This was taken into consideration in answering the water adequacy question.

Answer Critics Plan

The study and report were designed to answer a question often raised by critics of the Pick-Sloan plan.

At a meeting in Minot, N. D., Oct. 5, the inter-agency committee authorized Chairman Gladwin E. Young of Lincoln to appoint a subcommittee to study the question. The subcommittee included representatives of all federal agencies involved in the basin development program, plus representatives of state involved.

The report was submitted to the governors of all 10 basin states for review and comment before being released.

The Pick-Sloan plan, which proposes some 100 dams and reservoirs in the basin, contemplates the use of water for irrigation, navigation, power development, health and industrial needs and municipal requirements.

On the basis of data covering 52 years, the subcommittee concluded that the average annual flow in the Missouri at Sioux City is 24,552,000 acre feet. Water requirements as they affect the flow at this point would range from 16,530,000 acre feet in 1960, to 22,746,000 acre feet in the year 2,000.

The report says there will have to be further studies of individual tributaries whose water works (such as those on the Republican river in Nebraska) might affect the main stem's flow in the areas below Sioux City.

If Sioux City and Omaha get the water they need for municipal and industrial requirements and sanitation, then the inflow from tributaries below Omaha will, except on rare occasions, take care of needs at downstream points.

THEDFORD STUDENTS MINUS SCHOOL HOUSE—The seniors of Thomas county high school at Thedford, Neb., have spent their entire high school days quartered in the courthouse. Voters have faced the school bond proposal four different times since the school was condemned, and although the issue carried in the last election by 74 per cent, no action has been possible as the bonds have not yet been sold. A bill appears certain of passage in the legislature which will remove objections and permit sale of bonds. (Photo Special to The Star.)

A. N. Mathers Dies; Helped Develop West

... Ex-Legislator

GERING, Neb. — Albert N. Mathers, one of western Nebraska's most active developers, died Wednesday in a Rochester, Minn., hospital. He was 69.

Mr. Mathers served in the state house of representatives, for both parties, from 1922 to 1924. In 1923 he was speaker of the house. He lost the election for governor in 1924.

Born in Otoe county, he moved west after being educated at Douglas, Neb., Nebraska Wesleyan and the University of Nebraska.

He became Gering's first mayor, organized its fire department, and was president of the Gering National bank for many years.

Mr. Mathers had been seriously ill at his home for some time. He was taken to Rochester about a week ago. No funeral arrangements had yet been made.

Irrigation His Hobby

Besides his activities in government, Mr. Mathers worked vigorously in western Nebraska development. Irrigation was his hobby and he was instrumental in getting federal approval for the Gering-Fort Laramie Irrigation district project. He also belonged to the Nebraska Dairy Development association, and was on the executive board of the Missouri River Navigation association.

He was a Nebraska member and director of the National Reclamation congress, past president of the Nebraska Bankers association and the North Platte Valley chambers of commerce, and member of the National Tariff association, Nebraska Press association and National Editorial association.

Mr. Mathers was one of the organizers and past president of the Western Nebraska Hospital association, member Scottsbluff Rotary, Associated Industries of Nebraska, and past president of the Gering board of education.

He was a 32nd degree Scottish Rite Mason, Knights Templar and member and warden of the Episcopal church.

He had controlling interest of the Gering National bank from 1913 until he sold it this year to Dwight Griswold, former Nebraska governor.

He owned nine irrigated farms and ranches, was active in ranching and cattle raising, and on several occasions went to Washington to represent the Federal Farm Bureau and the National Beet Growers association.

MRS. ANNA L. GAUER

PLATTSMOUTH—Funeral services for Mrs. Anna L. Gauer, 73, longtime Cass county resident, were held here Sunday. Born at Pekin, Ill., she came to Nebraska with her parents as a child. Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Florence Heil, Cedar Creek, Mrs. Frances Hennings, Avoca, Mrs. Freda Wendt, Louisville, and Mrs. Joyce Ford, Omaha; a son, Floyd, Louisville; 10 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Holdrege To Be Site For Joint School Meetings

HOLDREGE, Neb.—(AP)—The Nebraska School Administrators association and Nebraska Co-operative School Study council will hold a joint meeting here Friday and Saturday, April 27 and 28, Supt. Louis A. Bragg of Holdrege has announced.

Dr. Bragg said approximately 150 members of the two groups are expected to attend the meeting, which is being held out-state this year for convenience of those whose homes are far from Lincoln, where the conference is usually held.

H. V. Taylor, president of the NASA, said the highlight of the two-day conference will be an address by Dr. Calvin Grieder, professor of school administration, University of Colorado. He will speak on "Vital Issues in Administration of Schools."

Holdrege's new school plants, the recently completed Washington elementary school, and the Ben Franklin grade school, now under construction, will be inspected by the delegates.

Pleasant Moments in sports BY Bob Considine
THE RACE THAT SETTLED 1,000,000 ARGUMENTS
AT EVERY RACE TRACK in the country the arguments raged: Which was the better horse, War Admiral or Seabiscuit? On Nov. 1, 1938, after four postponements, the two were finally matched in "the race of the century."
FROM A WALK-UP START they broke even, but at the first turn Seabiscuit was two lengths ahead. In the backstretch War Admiral made a gallant try, and they pounded around the last bend head-to-head. Then Seabiscuit took charge, and it was all over. With a tremendous burst of speed, he flashed across the line, the winner by three lengths.

More Cattle On Feed In Nebraska

Few Places Report Low Corn Supply

April 1 Feeding Mark 1% Over '50

The number of cattle on grain feed in Nebraska April 1 was estimated at 400,000 or one per cent more than the 395,000 head on feed a year ago, according to a release from the state-federal division of agricultural statistics.

"Cattle feding has been carried on at a relatively high level in view of the uncertainties in the present situation," the bureau reported. "The question of possible government price controls on meat animals and the effect on cattle feeding is still to be settled.

"Corn supplies are becoming scarce in a few localities. In some cases last year's corn did not have the usual feeding quality. It is now evident that some of the cattle on grain feed January 1 have not been maintained at full feed and will be held for additional gains from summer pasture."

Usually cattle that are on grain feed are fed straight through to market, but ample supplies of grain permitted better than usual wintering of cattle, the report stated.

The weather during the past quarter was generally favorable for feeding operations except for March, it was pointed out. In shipments of stocker and feeder cattle into Nebraska for the first three months of 1951 were 37 per cent above the same period a year earlier. The total number of inshipments for the January 1 to March 31 quarter were greater than for the same period in any year going back beyond 1941.

GEE WHIZ—Creston, Neb., grammar school students Marilyn Meyer, Marilyn Broeder, Thomas Hoesly, and John Hollatz, stare in wonder at ancient skeletons at University of Nebraska museum. The students paid for educational field trip instead of having a party. They also took from their Citizenship club dues a donation to Childrens' Memorial hospital in memory of classmate who died recently. (Star Photo.)

Young Visitors Get Money's Worth On Capital City Tour

BY ROY CAMPBELL
(Star Staff Writer)

Creston, Neb., grammar students on a one-day tour of the big city Wednesday got their money's worth when they visited the Lincoln fire department.

Ten minutes after they arrived, the alarm sounded. And Fireman Neil McPherson did a quick turnabout of his guide duties and headed for the brass pole.

Within a space of 10 seconds the place had cleared out, reported Mrs. R. D. Craig, grammar school teacher in Creston, "and we didn't get to see the engines, or the hook-and-ladder truck."

"But we sure saw the firemen in action," piped up one of her charges.

The 16 students and four chaperones from Creston were on a self-paid tour to Lincoln, and during their visit they took in Antelope park zoo, the state capitol, the penitentiary, police department, fire department and the University of Nebraska museum.

The most interesting stop of the day, Mrs. Craig said, was the state capitol. "The guide, Mr. T. Joeckel, was wonderful," she said.

The kids were looking for a touch of home which has population of 200 on their capitol visit, and they found it. After sitting in on the legislature, they were shown samples of archeological diggings taken from a location four miles outside Creston.

The grammar school students, including the fifth through the eighth grades, decided that instead of spending their money for parties and "something they wouldn't remember," they'd take a trip to the capitol.

Money saved from dues of their Citizenship club not only paid for their visit to Lincoln, it also provided a sizeable sum that was given in donation to the Children's Memorial hospital in memory of a classmate who died recently.

Perhaps it was a touch of the modern times, but the one disappointment to the students was that they didn't get to see the electric chair at the peniteniary.

Iowan To Address Feeders Day Group

Dr. G. M. Browning, associate director of Iowa State college experiment station, will be one of the principal speakers at the 39th annual Feeders' day at the University of Nebraska.

The scientists will tell about experiments conducted at Iowa State college on land and conditions similar to those found in eastern Nebraska. He has data to show the amount of feed required to put each 100 pounds of gain on cattle under four different systems of management. He will tell about the most efficient way to use bromegrass and alfalfa in fattening yearling steers.

Feeders' day opens at 9:15 a. m. at the college of agriculture. There will be sessions for both men and women. About 180 experimental cattle will be shown to the crowd during the morning.

Mother's Indigestion Vanishes Thanks to College Son's Advice

HADACOL Corrects Indigestion and Stomach Distress When Due to a Lack of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron

Mr. Carmen Monda

Limiting yourself to special foods to avoid stomach miseries? Suffering untold discomfort when you do eat the foods you like? Today's great HADACOL may well be the answer to the underlying cause of your gas, heartburn, bloat, and other distresses if they are due to a deficiency of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin.

Thousands from state after state have written telling us about the wonderful new help and hope that HADACOL has brought them. Here is what Mr. Carmen Monda, Box 184, Thomas, West Virginia has to say: "Some five or six years ago, while I was a student, I use to hear about HADACOL daily, either on the radio or through conversations, not to forget the daily papers. Not knowing its effect because of not trying it, I just let the advertisements slip by. Since my return from College, I saw an ad in one of my Southern magazines. The reason for my getting the bottle was because Mother wasn't feeling any too well. She was suffering a nervous stomach condition. Every time she would eat, she would throw it up again.

"With this bottle, after giving it to her for a few days, I noticed a change. Showing this bottle to the druggist, some 14 miles from here, he began getting it for me. With weeks gone by, Mother began to eat well without getting indigestion. I have been taking it myself and so is the rest of my family. The druggist who resides in Parsons, W. Va. asked me questions about HADACOL. After telling him of the good results we have received from it, many people in this section are beginning to use it. I am mighty proud to have given this community a start with HADACOL. I'm going to continue, for it has helped me and my Mother a lot."

Only HADACOL Gives You That "Wonderful Hadacol Feeling"

Say goodbye to those stomach disturbances, due to a lack of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin, which cause your favorite foods to disagree. Relieve the real cause of your trouble, due to such deficiencies with HADACOL. Recommended by many doctors—strict money-back guarantee. Trial size only $1.25; large economy family size, $3.50.

Red Threat Imperialism, Not Ideology

Lancaster: It's Another Czarist Drive

'Ancient Game Played For Higher Stakes'

The red threat the United States faces today is not a theoretical communism but the old ruthless imperialism of Czarist Russia masquerading in the trappings of an idealistic faith.

Dr. Lane Lancaster, chairman of the University of Nebraska's political science department, drove this point home in the fourth of a series of five lectures Wednesday evening at Love Library auditorium.

The series is sponsored by a business administration student group, Alpha Kappa Psi, to focus attention on communism as a threat to the American economy. The last in the series will be given by Governor Val Peterson at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 25.

Russia's red political policy, Dr. Lancaster said, has the same old Russian drive for expansion of the imperial territory, the same search for warm water ports, the old demand for control of the Dardanelles, and the same desire to create a ring of buffer states and spheres of influence.

Offense Treason

"The ancient game," he explained, "is only being played for higher stakes. For the old empires have gone—the German, the Turkish, the Austrian, the British—and Russia faces a single rival, the United States. The real offense of which American communists are guilty is not belief in a strange creed, but simply treason."

Dr. Lancaster said he sees little danger of Russia's red faith winning many converts inside America.

"The real danger," he said, "is that it will win so many among the miserable and disadvantaged elsewhere that we shall face alone a world in arms.

"Our principal defenses are two: First, we must exploit the still unused revolutionary possibilities of our democratic faith in such a way as to give greater reality here at home to the old idea of liberty, equality, justice, and fair play. Second, we must implement with vigor a foreign policy which can demonstrate that these ideals may be realized by men everywhere," Dr. Lancaster declared.

Tells Two Defenses

Speaking about the first of these two defenses, Dr. Lancaster found cause for concern about "the present public temper" which daily subjects citizens of "the most transparent integrity and unimpeachable patriotism" to the danger of being labeled as treasonists.

"Unless there is a reassertion of common sense," he said, "we stand in danger of creating precisely the situation which preceded the seizure of power by the fascists and the nazis. This would mean, of course, the destruction of all moderate groups and the settlement of all public issues by violence."

As to the second defense, Dr. Lancaster offered a prelude by pointing out, "Our free institutions are the result of our wealth, not the other way about." He added that we cannot expect the Chinese and the Indian peasants to be thrilled by listening to discourses on the beauties of free enterprise while their main preoccupation is their next meal.

Red Strategy

"But," he said, "it is not hard to understand how they might accept (the red) gospel if, along with it, come rice and fish and new opportunities for themselves and their children.

"We cannot buy friendship with dollars," he admitted, "but we can with money do a little to create those prosperous conditions in which alone free institutions flourish.

"In this connection," Dr. Lancaster said, "it seems little less than scandalous that the proposal to supply famine relief in India debate. Wise policy would have sent it direct to the White House—if we are as concerned as we pretend to be over the Russian threat."

Reeds Takes Post Hebron Schools

HEBRON, Neb.—Harold W. Reed, superintendent of the Fairmont high school for the past four years, has accepted a similar post with the Hebron schools. He replaces Glenn A. Lundstrom, who resigned to become head of the Blair schools.

T.B. Facts Are Heard At Rotary

Using as an actual case history the story of "family X," a panel discussion outling the prevention, care, and rehabilitation of tuberculer patients was presented before the weekly meeting of Lincoln Rotarians.

Mrs. Dorothy Collins, medical-social worker consultant, pointed out that tuberculosis is a "chronic, long-term, relapsing disease." She emphasized the need for proper rehabilitation to enable patients to return to complete and normal living as soon as possible.

Executive - Secretary Dorothy Ogden of the Lancaster T. B. association told the Rotarians that "if every case of tuberculosis could be found and placed under good medical treatment before it has reached the infectious state, T. B. could be eradicated."

Dr. Robert Grant, pediatrician member of the panel, said in reference to infection in "family X" that the child would not have contacted the disease if X-ray examinations had been made at prescribed periods.

"It is necessary," Miss Alice Jensen, nursing education supervisor in the city-county health department, said, "to locate as soon as possible the original source of the infection."

Watkins To Speak—"Your School Buildings" will be the subject of Superintendent of Schools Steven Watkins who will address the Lions club Thursday noon.

Clean Up Parade Adds Two Bands

As part of their Clean Up week drive, the city beautification committee of the women's division of the chamber of commerce said the Lincoln American Legion drum and bugle corps and the visiting Syracuse high school band will march at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the parade that kicks off Clean Up week—April 23-28.

Floats by civic groups and three pretty girls, Miss Fix Up and her two helpers Miss Clean Up and Miss Paint Up, will be part of the parade which the chamber women hope will start a "flurry of repairing, repainting, and rejuvenating to make Lincoln a safer, happier place to live in."

Hearings On Protests—Protests have been filed with the state liquor commission against the beer license application of Harry M. and Flossie Adkisson, Farnam, and the Class C liquor license application of Louis J. Pribyl, Omaha. Hearings on both will be held next Tuesday.

Dealers Are Divided On Implements Bills

Testify On 2 Measures At Hearing

Claimed Remedy For 'Black, Gray' Market

Nebraska implement dealers split down the middle Wednesday over legislation which was said to be designed to curb "black" and "gray" markets in the farm implement business.

On one side were the franchised dealers: On the other, independent operators.

The legislature's judiciary committee took no action on the two proposals—LB 546 and LB 547.

LB 546 prohibits the sale of farm machinery and industrial equipment if the manufacturer's serial number has been removed or altered.

LB 547 makes such removing or altering a felony.

Senator Herbert Duis, at whose request the legislature's agricultural committee introduced the bills, said the principal purpose of the legislation was to curb "black" and "gray" markets in farm machinery and industrial equipment.

Einar Viren, Omaha, representing the Midwest Retail Farm Equipment association, said that farm implement dealers or users are entitled to the same protection granted automobile dealers and users.

Edward J. Nelson, association president, said the legislation would assist dealers in giving better service to customers. Where the serial number has been removed, he explained, it is difficult to establish the year the equipment was sold to determine the parts that a customer wants.

Others speaking for the bill included R. C. Salisbury, Lincoln; Wayne B. Allen, McCook; Frank L. McKlem and A. G. Wurst, both of Wahoo, and Arch Hosterman of the Nebraska Farm Bureau federation.

Leading off the opposition, Francis Casey, Plattsmouth, who said he represented an independent Plattsmouth implement dealer, said the "men who are here seeking aid are those who take off the serial numbers."

He said that franchised dealers, when they are in a "pinch" and need money, sell equipment to independent dealers but first take off the serial numbers to avoid losing the franchises.

He called the legislation the "brain child of manufacturers."

M. R. Reller, Lincoln, said the purpose of the bill is to raise the retail price of farm machinery to eliminate competition.

Clarence A. Lewis, Custer county farmer, said the legislation was a "plain case of dealers trying to monopolize the price of machinery."

Meanwhile the last salary bill awaiting committee action came out of miscellaneous appropriations. It would give the governor a $1,000 raise, to $11,000; and a $600 raise to district and supreme court judges, who now get $6,800 and $8,500 respectively.

A bill providing publication of teacher's contract salary figures at the beginning of the school year was among bills coming out of education committee as it cleared its docket Wednesday.

Suit Filed Against County To Remove Dam And Culvert

Three Waverly men filed suit in District court against Lancaster county, asking the court to order the county to remove dams and a culvert constructed near a county highway northwest of Waverly.

The three men, Charles M. Skiles, Axel Spader and William Spader, contend that the raising of the highway grade, the digging of ditches, construction of check dikes and a new culvert has forced run-off water onto their land.

Sandritter Named Head Of Hospital

Moved Up To Job In Hastings Institution

Dr. G. Lee Sandritter, assistant superintendent of the Norfolk State hospital, has been named superintendent of the Hastings state hospital, effective May 1.

This was announced Wednesday by Mrs. Mary Prince, board of control chairman.

Dr. Sandritter, a University of Nebraska college of medicine graduate, will succeed Dr. Juul C. Nielsen.

Dr. Nielson recently resigned to accept a position as director of the Indiana Council of Mental Health and superintendent of the Indianapolis Carter Memorial hospital.

He originally planned to leave Nebraska June 1, but he has asked to be relieved a month earlier in order to attend some meetings in the east, Mrs. Prince said.

Dr. Sandritter is a member of the county and state medical association, past president of the Nebraska Society of Neurology and Psychiatry, Fellow of the American Medical association and a member of the American Psychiatric association.

The board also announced the appointments of Dr. George J. Lytton as chief of the central state clinic at Hastings and Dr. Cecil L. Wittson as chief of the Nebraska clinical services.

City May Operate Auditorium Site For Parking Lot

Lincoln's long-proposed and discussed—but never built—city auditorium may come up for discussion again soon, but not with an eye toward construction of the building.

The city has discussed the use of the auditorium site at Fifteenth and N for a city-owned and operated parking lot. The lot is now used for that purpose under a $200 a month lease to a private individual.

Under consideration is a plan for the use of parking meters by the city on the square block area. The present lease contains a 30-day cancellation notice clause.

Frisco Says Farewell To MacArthur Who Disavows Political Aspirations

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur climaxed a roaring welcome home Wednesday by declaring he does not intend to enter politics or seek any political office.

The deposed general—center of a bitter political dispute—made his dramatic announcement during a warm and riotous greeting from at least 300,000 people who jammed downtown San Francisco.

Almost casually, MacArthur ended a brief speech by saying:

"I have just been asked if I intended to enter politics. My answer was no.

"I have no political aspirations whatsoever. I do not intend to run for any political office and I hope that my name will never be used in a political way.

"The only politics I have is contained in a simple phrase known well by all of you—God bless America."

First Personal Statement.

This was the first personal statement by MacArthur since his ouster that could be interpreted as a direct denial that he was motivated by politics in his dispute with President Truman.

Prior to this, his public statements have been limited to formal acknowledgements of welcoming parties and to non-political topics.

But even if the general does not intend to enter politics he already has become the central figure of a historic political fight over Asian policy. And he will carry his views on this issue before congress Thursday (11:30 a.m., c.s.t).

The general, his wife, Jean, and son, Arthur, took off from the airport here at 1:24 p.m., p.s.t. (3:24 p.m., c.s.t.) for a non-stop flight to Washington.

Crowds Gather Early

The general's departure from downtown San Francisco was amid the same hysterical atmosphere which has gripped this city since his arrival.

The riotous homecoming welcome of Tuesday night broke out again in even greater volume as MacArthur stepped out of the St. Francis hotel Wednesday morning for the parade through the city.

He had spent a quiet night in his sixth floor suite where he and his family watched television for the first time.

Crowds began gathering early in Union square in front of the hotel and along the line of march. Police estimated there were 300,000 people out to cheer him.

The massed crowds pressed close to the cars which crawled through a paper storm of ticker tape and torn paper. And a roar swept through the crowds as the people caught a glimpse of the general. He smiled, waved and saluted in returning their cheers.

"I DO NOT INTEND TO RUN FOR ANY POLITICAL OFFICE"—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, fired by President Truman as supreme commander, Wednesday tells a crowd estimated at 100,000 jammed in the civic center in San Francisco: "I do not intend to run for any political office and I hope that my name will never be used in a political way." San Francisco turned out in the greatest ovation ever given a visiting dignitary. (AP Wirephoto Wednesday Night.)

Liquor Probe Calls 3 New Witnesses

Unexpected Hearing Scheduled Thursday

Three witnesses will appear before the legislative committee investigating liquor conditions and lobbies Thursday, and a fourth has explained that he has no knowledge of conditions in Nebraska. Sen. William Hern, vice-chairman, said Wednesday.

The hearing was unexpectedly called because Sen. H. G. Wellensiek said that he wanted to hear more from the witnesses summoned, Sen. Hern explained. The committee had planned to write its final report Tuesday.

Those who have accepted invitations to appear, Hern said, are Walter E. Christenson, editor of the Omaha Worldl-Herald; Charles Hammond, Omaha liquor wholesalers, and an Omaha agent of the Liquor Commission. The agent had asked for a chance to appear.

Hern also telephoned Ralph Stevens of McCook, a former wholesaler there, and invited him to appear.

But, said Hern, Stevens said "he had no information, excepting a little from New York, and he is going to write me a letter."

Editor Called.

The Omaha editor was called, it was explained, because of testimony given by his reporters to the committee and the further fact that editorials have criticized the committee. Members of the committee say the newspaper carried information from witnesses that was not given the committee.

"If the paper has information that we do not know about, we would like to have such facts rather than criticism," one member explained.

Last week McCook Attorney Frank Morrison read to the committee a notarized statement from a "Mr. X" who claimed to have made cash payments to state liquor agents. The Omaha was one of two agents named. Both agents promptly denied the statement.

Wholesalers' Spokesman.

Hammond was invited, Hern explained, to appear as spokesman of Nebraska liquor wholesalers, but his name already had appeared in the investigating committee's record as a member of a firm mentioned by former Mayor Ziegenbein of Nebraska City.

Ziegenbein claimed relatives of members of the wholesale firm owned stock in two Nebraska City retail liquor stores.

Hern said the committee wished to hear from Christenson about liquor law enforcement in Omaha.

Stevens, in an appearance before the legislature's banking committee recently on a bill designed to prevent discrimination against wholesalers by manufacturers, claimed he quit business because of alleged discrimination by a liquor distiller.

Report Made Of Conference On Children

... To Church Women

What church women can do to achieve the goals set up by the White House Conference on Children and Youth was outlined to the Lincoln Council of Church Women Tuesday at their monthly meeting.

Dr. Arthur Hitchcock, director of the junior division and counseling service at the University of Nebraska, made the report on the conference.

Speaking at the afternoon session of the all-day affair, Dr. Hitchcock told the ladies that the conference was called by the president "to consider how we can develop in children the mental, emotional and spiritual qualities essential to individual happiness and to responsible citizenship."

The church women can consider what kind of a community will be best to achieve this goal, he said, and then take steps to create such a community.

During the morning session Mrs. W. L. Williams, president of the women's auxiliary of the Episcopal Diocese of Nebraska spoke on "Life in a Christian Home."

Mrs. Douglas Lewis, of St. Matthew's Episcopal church read the devotional. Miss Priscilla Jones, sang "O Divine Redeemer" accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Lloyd True.

Mrs. H. E. Shelley was in charge of the meeting which was held at Holy Trinity Episcopal church.

"YOUR NEW '50,000 MILES—NO WEAR' OIL is the best we have ever had the privilege of using in our garage," says George M. James, Manager, Metro Motors, Ford Distributors, Murray, Utah. "We use Conoco Super Motor Oil in all our demonstrators and recommend it highly to new car buyers."

"50,000 MILES-NO WEAR!"- PROVED HERE:

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper crankcase drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence . . . in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. Factory finishing marks were still visible on piston rings!

AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000! This test proved that new Conoco Super, with OIL-PLATING, can make your car last longer, perform better, use less gasoline and oil.

"I'VE USED MANY DIFFERENT BRANDS of oil, but was never satisfied until I heard the story of '50,000 Miles—No Wear' and changed to new Conoco Super," writes Ben F. Taylor, Traveling Salesman, Fort Worth, Texas. "Now I get greater savings in oil consumption and more miles to the gallon."

All Day Soybean Conference Is Set April 27 At Fremont

BY HOMER FINE
Farm Editor, The Star

Farmers in the Fremont area who want to grow soybeans this year due to the inability to get oats into the ground in time for a crop, will be able to get all the information they need next week.

This year's Nebraska soybean conference is scheduled for all day, April 27, at Fremont city auditorium.

Donald Hanway, soybean breeder at the University of Nebraska's agricultural experiment station in Lincoln, pointed out that many eastern Nebraska farmers can raise soybeans successfully by using proper cultural practices.

"If they have the production know-how," Hanway said, "economic considerations should determine the extent of their plantings."

Nebraska's soybean acreage has been very low, the plant breeder said, with 22,000 acres harvested in 1949 and 46,000 acres harvested last year. Average yields for the two years have been 22 and 24 bushels to the acre respectively.

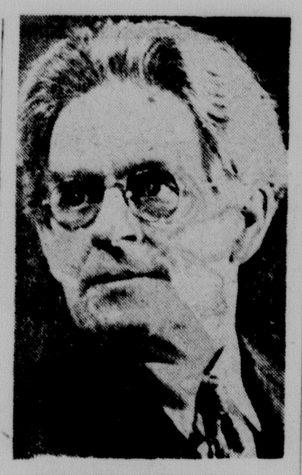

The soybean conference in Fremont promises to give farmers the important practices required for success in raising the crop. The program opens at 9 a.m. with a motion picture "Soybeans—The Feature Story."

J. C. Russell, research agronomist of the SCS, USDA and University of Nebraska, Hanway, Dwight Dannen of St. Joseph, Mo., and Merle Brinegar of Lincoln are on the morning program. J. W. Calland of the National Soybean Crop Improvement association will predict the future of the crop during the afternoon session, and there will be opportunity to get questions answered by experts.

A panel discussion on "Growing Soybeans in Nebraska," moderated by J. D. Furrer, extension agronomist at the University of Nebraska, will be a highlight of the afternoon. The panel, slated for 2 p.m., will consist of: Howard Wahlgren, Elk City; Max Junkin, Smithfield; M. Allen McConnell, Gibbon; Alan Mulliken, Nickerson; Jack Orr, Dakota City; and Paul C. Hughes, of Hudson, Ia.

Sponsors of the conference are the Dodge county extension service, the Nebraska Grain Improvement association, the college of agriculture, Fremont chamber of commerce, as well as commercial soybean interests. Harry B. Lilly of Fremont will be chairman of the morning program and Dr. T. A. Kiesselbach of Lincoln will be chairman during the afternoon session.

Betting Slips Ordinance Said Lawful

Presumptive Evidence Opinion Is Given On

An Omaha city ordinance making gambling devices prima facie evidence of crime is valid and constitutional, Attorney General C. S. Beck said Wednesday in an opinion.

He further said that even if such evidence were "obtained in an unlawful or irregular manner" it would be admissable in court.

The questions were posed by Omaha Municipal Judge Lester Palmer.

The opinion was partly based on the question of "presumptive evidence and evidence obtained without warrant."

The Omaha ordinance reads that racing forms, run down sheets, over night sheets, bet slips and similar data relating to horse racing when found in a person's possession shall be presumptive evidence of gambling or of an invitation or of permission to others to gamble on the premises where such information is found.

The exception is "unless after examination such person or persons shall satisfactorily account for and explain the possession thereof x x x."

The attorney general said that while Nebraska, so far as his office knew, has not ruled directly on any ordinance such as Omaha's, it is his opinion that the Supreme court, if called upon, 'would uphold constitutionality" of the ordinance.

Pertinent Issues.

On the second question Beck's office said that "uniform and uncontroverted is the following rule:

"Where articles are offered in evidence which are pertinent to the issue, the court will not exclude them because they may have been obtained in an irregular manner."

On the ordinance itself, Beck stated "fundamental to the law is the legal principle which allots to legislative bodies, with certain qualifications, the prerogative of providing that certain facts shall be prima facie or presumptive evidence of other facts."

Then he pointed out that in other states laws similar to that of the Omaha city body have been court tested and found to be within the power of a legislative body.

In a Kentucky case, for instance, the power of municipal governing bodies to create prima facie presumptions was directly contested. The Kentucky court held the municipal body did have that power.

Revolving Door Romeo Released After Jail Spin

Police Wednesday morning released the "Whirling Masher."

Inspector Eugene H. Masters said that charges would not be pressed against the 34-year-old farmer who annoyed a young working girl by going through revolving doors with her.

The suspect was arrested in the state capitol Tuesday afternoon after the young woman and several of her friends notified police of the incident.

At headquarters he admitted whirling through revolving doors —in the same section—with an object of his admiration on several other occasions.

Police whisked him through a steel door Tuesday and kept him lodged in jail overnight.

Couple Files Suit Against City After Accident Injuries

Mr. and Mrs. Thaniel A. Bell filed companion lawsuits totaling $16,500 in District court Wednesday against the city of Lincoln, alleging a car accident they had Dec. 30 was due to the city's negligence in not putting up signals and warnings at a dead-end street.

Mr. Bell asks $6,500 for personal injuries, medical expenses and car damage; Mrs. Bell asks $10,000 for personal injuries.

They state the accident occurred when the car, driven by Mr. Bell, went into a ditch after coming to a dead-end street near Fourteenth and F in Huskerville.

Cathredal Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Phyllis Banks, daughter of Mrs. Zelma Banks of Lincoln, and Nathan E. Banks of Pasadena, Cal., to Richard P. Dalton, son of Mrs. Thomas Dalton of Lincoln, and the late Mr. Dalton, was solemnized at 10 o'clock, Saturday morning, April 7, at St. Mary's cathedral. Spring bouquets of lilacs, daisies and jonquils and lighted white candles decorated the altar for the ceremony the lines of which were read by the Rev. Conrad Marrama.

The wedding music was played by Miss Catherine Gillespie, organist, who also accompanied Louis Demma who sang, "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother," "Ave Maria," and "Panis Angelicus."

Miss Dorothy Knopf was the maid of honor and bride's only attendant and wore a gown of yellow net and lace in the candlelight length. The shirred, strapless bodice and extremely full skirt of the net were accented by a brief shoulder cape of net edged with lace, and her wide-brimmed picture hat was fashioned of the lace. She carried a crescent bouquet of white and lavender-toned daisies tied with yellow satin.

John Christopulos served Mr. Dalton as best man, and seating the guests were Robert Dalton and Robert Scanlon, both of Lincoln.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Charles W. Banks, and appeared in a gown of white Chantilly lace and net. The fitted, long-sleeved bodice of lace was framed by an off-shoulder yoke of sheer illusion, and the lace motif was repeated in the trim of the very full, ankle-length skirt of net. Her small cap was veiled with lace in the mantilla mode, and she carried a white satin prayer book to which was fastened a white orchid.

A reception for the members of the family and a small group of friends was held at the church where bouquets of daisies and sweetpeas encircled the three-tiered wedding cake which formed the centerpiece for the refreshment table. Included among those assisting at the reception were Mrs. Ivan Callen of Omaha, and Mrs. Everett S. Nice of McCook.

The couple left for a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., and southern states. The bride wore for traveling a navy blue gabardine suit with navy and white polka dot linen trim, navy accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Marriage Solemnized

The marriage of Miss Elsie Ann Krajicek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Krajicek, to Edward James Havlat, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Havlat of Pleasant Dale, took place at a 10 o'clock ceremony on Tuesday morning, March 27, at Sacred Heart church. The Rev. Howard B. Hart, rector of Sacred Heart, solemnized the service before an altar appointed with Easter lilies, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Elizabeth Soflin, organist. Mrs. Soflin also accompanied the church choir as it sang the high nuptial mass.

Mrs. Ernest Novotny of Valparaiso, the matron of honor, and Mrs. Joseph Hraban of Bee, the bridesmaid, appeared in alike frocks of pink marquisette over matching taffeta. Their headbands also were in the pink tone, and they carried bouquets of pink and white carnations tied with white satin ribbon.

Joseph Hraban of Bee served Mr. Havlat as best man, and the ushers were Ernest Novotny of Valparaiso; Robert Havlat and Frederick Andelt, both of Valparaiso.

The bride chose for her wedding a gown of white slipper satin. The deeply squared neckline of the long-sleeved, fitted bodice, was framed with Chantilly lace caught with clusters of orange blossoms. The full skirt completed with a long train was fashioned with side panels of satin ruffles and lace, and the lace formed a wide, floating panel from the waist to the hemline in front. Her veil of imported French illusion was fingertip length, and was held to the head with a cap of Chantilly lace ornamented with orange blossoms.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast for the one hundred wedding guests was held in the parlors of the church.

After a short honeymoon trip, for which Mrs. Havlat wore a wine-toned suit, with black accessories, Mr. Havlat and his bride returned to their farm near Crete to reside. During World War II the bridegroom served three years with the army air force, including two and one-half years overseas duty.

Beatrice Becomes 1st State City To Fluoridate Water

Beatrice has become the first Nebraska city to have fluorine added to its municipal water supply.

T. A. Filipi, director of the sanitation division of the state health department, presided over the beginning of the new project aimed at lessening tooth decay.

Proportion of fluorine added was one part of fluorine to one million parts of water. The proportion must be at least three-fourths of a part per million to be effective, Filipi said.

The teeth of Beatrice children will be checked within the next few days, Filipi said, and then checked again at certain intervals in the future to see what effect the fluoridation has on decay.

March Ceremony

White snapdragons and greenery, and lighted white cathedral candles, appointed the altar of Holy Trinity church, Episcopal, for the marriage of Miss Frances Marie Lofink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lofink, to Robert L. Schwantz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwantz of Bertha, Minn., on Saturday evening, March 10. The lines of the 8 o'clock ceremony were read by the Rev. David Gracey.

Tall, lighted white candles also marked the pews the length of the processional aisle, and the wedding music was played by Dorsey Baird, organist. Mr. Baird also accompanied Miss Jacquelyn Schwantz who sang "O Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer," preceding the service.

Miss Myra Jane Lofink was the maid of honor, and the bridesmatron was Mrs. Jeanne Brehm. Miss Lofink in fuchsia, and Mrs. Brehm in orchid, wore identical frocks of taffeta fashioned with full net overskirts in the ballerina length. Their long taffeta mitts and fitted, cloche hats were in shades to match their frocks, and they carried colonial nosegays of pastel-toned sweetpeas.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of traditional white satin, designed in the princess mode. A deep yoke of Chantilly lace was patterned with seed pearls and crystal sequins, and the fitted bodice was completed with long sleeves pointed over the hands. The skirt was caught into fullness beneath a tunic peplum which tapered into a train, and her illusion veil was fingertip length. She carried a white prayer book ornamented with gardenias and white sweetpeas from which showered white satin ribbons.

The Bride Book

By Mary Aitken Greer

The history of the wedding cake goes farther back than the beaten batter. In fact, this child's pink dream used to be quite unassuming and plain.

The origin of the wedding cake is found in Roman cookery. An essential feature of the Roman marriage was the wedding pair's consumption of a cake made of salt, water and folur. This ritual symbolized wealth and plenty.

Then, in the Middle Ages, Brides wore wheat ears and were sprinkled with grains of wheat, which later were made into biscuits. And the bride was immersed in crumbs, for the biscuits were broken over her head.

By Elizabeth's time the biscuit had become become a small cake. And still the bride was showered with crumbs, and the guests starved.

Then, in the time of Charles II, our wedding cake assumed its glories of almond paste and ornaments. And this cake was too fancy to be wasted on the heads of the bride and groom. Thus began the savior of the bridal gown and of the wedding guest's appetites.

The wedding cake still symbolizes wealth and plenty, but this symbol seems farther removed from the poor bride and groom, because the guests eat all the cake.

MRS. JOHN KEVILL

Guest-ing in Lincoln this week is Mrs John Kevill of Chicago who, with Mr. Kevill, arrived last week-end to spend several days as the house guests of Mrs. Kevill's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carper.

BETTER TIMES AHEAD

THERE ARE INTERESTING DAYS ahead—Thursday, in itself, is not so filled with activity—but we know of a family reunion a week hence—and of course there are two delightful soon-to-be brides—Miss Suzaine Burgess of Omaha, whose marriage to Jack Guenzel will be an event of Saturday, April 28—and Miss Joel Bailey, who has named May 6 as the date of her marriage to Lieut. Philip Grimm—

Before we get on to the courtesies for the brides-to be-and other matters, we think that former campus circles might like to know that Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Grimm of Wyomissing, Pa., will come west for their son's wedding—that they will be accompanied by their daughter, Miss Adelaide Grimm—"Tad" for short—who is to be a member of the bridal party.

* * *

MISS BURGESS, WE HEAR, comes to Lincoln this week-end for a series of prenuptial courtesies—and returns again next week for more—

On Sunday there are two parties complimenting Miss Burgess and Mr. Guenzel—the first is a brunch for which Mr. Guenzel's brothers-in-law and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Don Stewart, jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pegler, jr., will be hosts and hostesses when they entertain twenty guests at the Lincoln Country club.

* * *

THEN—ON SUNDAY EVENING—Miss Burgess and Mr. Guenzel will be honored when Dr. and Mrs. Robert Stein are host and hostess to a small group of guests at a 5 o'clock-to-7 o'clock party at their home.

* * *

NEXT MID-WEEK—Wednesday, to be specific, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Guenzel will preside at a family dinner at the Lincoln Country club honoring Miss Burgess and their son.

* * *

THE MAY BRIDE we mentioned—Miss Joel Bailey—still is on the campus so there is no commuting between Omaha and Lincoln for Lincoln parties—

The first of a series of courtesies for Miss Bailey was on Wednesday evening when Miss Janet Rogers was a dinner hostess at the University club. Dinner places were arranged for ten.

* * *

THIS EVENING courtesy hostesses for Miss Bailey will be Miss Joris Devereux of Omaha, and Mrs. Roy Churchill—the former Barbara Gardner—who have invited the seniors of the Pi Beta Phi chapter for a gadget shower and an informal evening.

* * *

ON SUNDAY MISS SUZANNE MARSHALL—whose marriage to William Cronan will be an event of August—will compliment Miss Bailey when she entertains at brunch at Hotel Cornhusker.

* * *

SOMETHING WE FOUND very interesting is news of the Ferguson family—As perhaps you already know, Ferguson Hall, on the University of Nebraska campus, is to be dedicated on Saturday, April 28, as part of the ceremonies of the meeting of the Nebraska Engineering Society- and to honor Dean-Emeritus O. J. Ferguson.

Arriving on Friday to be on hand for the dedication will be Dean and Mrs. Ferguson's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Ferguson, and their two children, of Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Another son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ferguson of Omaha; their daughters, Mrs. Don M. Young of Kansas City, and Mrs. E. E. Averill of Omaha.

* * *

LEAVING ON WEDNESDAY evening, after a few days stay in Lincoln, was Mrs. Arthur Swanson of LaGrange, Ill. Mrs. Swanson stopped off to spend a brief time as the house guest of Mrs. E. H. Dierks, en route to Sant: Barbara, Cal., where she will visit Mrs. Gladys Smits, formerly of Lincoln.

* * *

OFF TO OMAHA ON WEDNESDAY to spend the remainder of the week, were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Anderson. The purpose of the jaunt, we hear, is the regional meeting of the National Association of Stationers. Accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were Frederick A. Reed, regional governor of the association, and Mrs. Reed, and we learned that joining the group later in the week will be Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Latsch and their daughter, Miss Mary Jo Latsch.

* * *

FROM CAMBRIDGE comes news of the birth of a son, William Clyde, to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schwartzkopf on Wednesday, April 18. Young Bill's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. Clyde Filley.

Ceremony On Sunday

Miss Nina June DeBoer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garret DeBoer, became the bride of Con Douglas Showalter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Showalter, at a candlelight service solemnized on Sunday, April 15, at Bethany Christian church. Lighted white candles in seven-branched candelabra, and bouquets of pastel-toned gladioli, snapdragons and bougainvillaea blossoms decorated the altar, and the processional aisle was marked by lighted candles tied with bows of white satin.

The Rev. Howard Holverson read the lines of the double ring ceremony, and Miss Hilda Chowins, organist, played the wedding music. Miss Chowins also accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Don DeBoer, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, who sang "Thine Alone," and Marlin DeBoer, brother of the bride, who sang "At Dawning," and "A Wedding Prayer."

Mrs. Robert Regler, sister of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor and wore a frock of yellow silk taffeta. The fitted bodice was designed with a deep yoke of sheer net, and lace edged the draped peplum of the skirt which was caught up at the back in a modified bustle. Wearing identical gowns of lavender net over matching satin were the bridesmaids, Miss Virginia Sach and Miss Jane Ann Lowe. Wide bertha collars accented the snug bodices, and large bows of net formed the back-trim of the full skirts. The attendants all carried bouquets of snapdragons, jonquils and bougainvillaea.

Terri Lee Regler, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl and wore a frock of lavender net over satin, and lighting the candles were Miss Mary Ann DeBoer, sister of the bride, and Miss Carolyn Boesiger.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, appeared in a ballerina-length gown of ice blue slipper satin veiled with matching tulle. Small, satin covered buttons closed the basqued bodice, which was accented by a deep yoke of illusion, and the skirt of tulle over satin was gathered into fullness. A Mary, Queen of Scots, brim held her illusion veil, and she carried a bridal bouquet of pastel-shaded carnations and stephanotis showered with satin ribbon.

Best man was Max Showalter of Fairbury, cousin of the bridegroom, and the ushers were Duane Showalter and Roe Showalter, brothers of the bridegroom, Norman DeBoer, brother of the bride, and Ross Boesiger. Ringbearer was Stephen DeBoer, nephew of the bride.

A reception for three hundred guests was held in the parlors of the church. A four-tiered wedding cake centered the lace-covered bridal table, and assisting at the reception were Mrs. June Stotts, Mrs. Esther Price, Mrs. David Shaeffer, Mrs. H. Leacock, Mrs. Harry Squires, Mrs. C. Ruthroff, Mrs. H. Adams, Mrs. C. McChesney, Mrs. Freda Epler, Mrs. Ben Workman, Mrs. Harry Hall, Mrs. Clifford Johnson, Mrs. Earl Lahm, Mrs. Norman DeBoer, Mrs. Marlin DeBoer and Mrs. Mabel Darling. Music during the reception was presented by Miss Carolyn Boesiger.

Mr. and Mrs. Showalter left for a short wedding trip and will make their home at 2824 North Forty-ninth street in Lincoln.

The bride, who is a student at the University of Nebraska school of music, is organist at Bethany Christian church.

Lincoln Raps Two Homers, Six Doubles For Easy Win

...Portocarrero, Romberger Share Mound

WESTERN LEAGUE

Des Moines 9, Sioux City 1.
Wichita 8, Colorado Springs 7.
Denver 6, Pueblo 3.

BY NORRIS ANDERSON
(Sports Editor, The Star)

A BUSTLING band of Lincoln Athletics Wednesday night parlayed long distance batting power into a 14-4 lambasting of the Omaha Cardinals, defending Western league champions, in the seasonal baptism for both teams.

Braving a 39-degree thermometer, a bundled Sherman Field audience of 2,039 saw Manager Frank Skaff's zippy proteges unleash two home runs and six doubles.

Five Omaha pitchers, dismayed by the A's artillery and their own wildness, thus entered the scorebook.

STEADY PITCHING

Lincoln, meanwhile, coasted in on steady pitching by Arnie Portocarrero and Al Romberger, a neat curveballer who shut out the touted Cards in the last four innings.

Sparked by a pair of eyelifting catches by Eddie Boehm and Billy Johnson, the A's showed equal promise afield.

"You have to say my boys hustled all the way out there tonight," said Manager Frank Skaff. "They dug in at the plate, too, and showed they may surprise someone."

In view of the chilly weather, he cancelled a workout slated for Thursday morning.

KIRK HOMERS

Tommy Kirk swung from his heels in the first and pounded a tremendous home run over the rightfield fence, scoring Eddie Boehm, who was on base with a walk.

The A's drew two more tallies in the second on Portocarrero's single, a fielder's choice, a walk and John Wisneski's double.

Three walks, two Omaha errors, a single by Billy Shantz and Bobby Gardner's double to left rang in five runs in the fourth.

Billy Johnson's home run, which bounced on the rightfield fence, scored three runs in the sixth. Another score came in during the same inning on successive doubles by Billy Shantz and Romberger.

Kirk made it around in the seventh on a double and Johnson's single for the A's final run.

Omaha scored one in the first on a single by Rausch and Adzick's double. The Cards picked up another solo in the third when Childs made the rounds on a single and a double by the pesky Rausch.

The final two Omaha runs came in the fifth on three singles and a double by Kwak.

A'S ARE OUTHIT

Omaha outhit the A's, 14-11, but could not equal the Sherman field nine's long-distance power.

Kirk and Johnson together batted in seven Lincoln runs for batting honors of the evening.

Manager Frank Skaff announced he would use Walt Kellner Thursday night in the second game of the three-stop series with the Cardinals.

It may be Kellner's last 1951 appearance with the A's. He leaves Saturday for his home in Tucson, Ariz., where he has been called to active duty with his army reserve unit. After taking a physical, he will be given 30 days leave to get his affairs in shape.

Don Cooper, Rider In The Sky

PROF. ED WEIR, obviously in pain, was reclined on a bench against the Henry F. Schulte fieldhouse.

The Cornhusker track and field skipper, who six weeks ago guided his wards to an amazing triumph in the Big Seven indoor sweepstakes, is recovering from a serious back operation.

He can sit up only for several moments at a time. Then he's forced to lay back and take it easy.

Pain or not, Prof. Weir, staunch soul that he is, still watches his brood like a mother hen. You sort of sense that Ed is thinking more of his squad than his own misfortune.

"Don Cooper and Dick Heissner were wondering how hard to work Friday against Missouri," Assistant Ike Hanscom was telling Ed.

Don Cooper

This in view of the fact that Cooper, now breathing on 14 feet in the pole vault, and Meissner, the Purdue Relay high jump champ, have important dates Saturday at the Kansas Relays.

"Tell 'em to jump to win," said Ed, who has never known any other way since his days as an All-America tackle and crack hurdler.

Ed hopes to recover by time of the Drake Relays in late May. Until then, he says he won't be able to do any traveling.

Hanscom told us that Cooper came within a hand's width of clearing 15 feet at Colorado after topping 14'9½" for a new American record off a dirt runway.

The previous mark under those conditions was 14'6½", held by Earle Meadows of USC. Illinois' Don Laz did 14'8⅛" Feb. 17, in a dual against Michigan, but his feat has not yet been recognized.

If Cooper does hit 15 feet, and darned if we aren't betting on him, he'll be the fourth human in world history to clear that height.

First there was Cornelius Warmerdam, who finally wound up with a tops of 15'7¾" way back in 1942. Then, along came Don Laz, the Illinois collegian, and Bob Richards, the sky-riding parson, to clear the legendary height.

The Kansas Relay record, held by Oklahoman Bill Carroll who used to beat Cooper regularly, is a mere 14'5".

P.S.—It looks like another archive for the senior vaulter from York.

WE were mighty glad to see Frank "Dutch" Meyer, the Husker footballer, appointed head trainer of the Lincoln A's.

Although never a front-line regular, Dutch never gave up the fight in his days with the Huskers. At all times, he was the ultimate in unselfish teamwork, hustle and determination.

Dutch Meyer is the kind of lad any employer would like to have.

So it seems just right that a hustling ball club like this current collection of A's should have such a hustling trainer.

Sherman Field patrons are going to like Dutch Meyer.

Weir Names 11-Man Squad

...For Kansas Relays

Coach Ed Weir has named an eleven-man traveling squad to compete in the Kansas Relays at Lawrence, Saturday.

Reading the list of Husker entries will be Leonard Kehl and Don Cooper, two of the top pole vaulters in the Big Seven.

Both will be pressed by a host of entries capable of doing 14 feet or better. The last Husker to win the vault event in the Kansas Relays was Harold Hunt when he cleared 13 5¾ in 1942.

Dick Meissner, Husker high jumper, will compete against such stars as Walter "Buddy" Davis of Texas A.&M. who climbed 6-9 in the Texas Relays and Virgil Severns of Kansas who hit 6 7¾. Meissner leaped 6 5⅜ for his best mark this year.

Nebraska traveling squad:

100-yard dash: Lee Alexander, Plainview.

Hurdles: Don Bedker, North Platte; Dan Tolman, Indianola.

High jump: Dick Meissner, Omaha; Irv Thode, Loup City.

Broad jump: Thode; Glenn Beerline, Alliance.

Pole vault: Don Cooper, York; Leonard Kehl, Scottsbluff.

Shot put: Paul Grimm, Blair; Lowell Neilson, Spalding.

Discus: Neilson.

Javelin: Beerline; Warren Monson, Clay Center.

KNICKS GAIN TIE

NEW YORK—(AP)—The New York Knicks evened the final NBA playoff series at three games apiece Wednesday night by beating the Rochester Royals, 80 to 73, for the third straight time.

Soph Slugger Paces K.U. Win Over N.U., 9-5

LAWRENCE, Kas.—The booming bat of sophomore right-fielder Walt Hicks led Kansas university's baseball team to a 9-5 victory over Nebraska here Wednesday. The stocky outergardner from Kansas City clobbered two 300-foot home runs and a single in three official times at bat, driving in five runs and scoring three.

It was the first Big Seven game of the season for both clubs. They are scheduled for a second meeting here Thursday afternoon.

Nebraska was able to nick winning pitcher Carl Sandefur, the league's outstanding hurler last year with a 7-1 record, for only five scattered singles. The losers left 12 men stranded on the bases.

None of the N.U. runs were earned. Sandefur's only precarious situation came because of six Kansas errors. The Huskers, defending loop champions, were the only team to beat the K.U. mound ace last year.

Kansas slammed Nebraska pitching for 11 hits, five of them for extra bases. McCormick of Silver Creek the starting pitcher, took the loss.

Second baseman Bobby Reynolds was the standout for the visitors. The football all-American got two hits in three official times at bat, got on base four of the five times he went to the plate, and played errorless ball afield.

Lopat Hurls Yanks To Second Win Over Red Sox

Southpaw Flinger Adds 2-Run Homer

RESULTS WEDNESDAY
AMERICAN LEAGUE

Chicago at St. Louis postponed, rain.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Steady Eddie Lopat, pitching no-hit ball for 6½ innings, set down the red-faced Red Sox with two singles Wednesday in New York's second straight victory, 6-1, over Boston.

The chunky left hander kept the assemblage of 15,415 gnawing its finger nails in hopes of a no-hitter until the seventh. Then he brought them out of their seats with a two-run homer in the eighth.

While the Red Sox flailed feeble grounders or lifted towering fly balls, the Yanks ripped into Harry Taylor for four runs in the fifth. That was it. Lopat's 310-foot smash off Reliefer Ellis Kinder was only icing for the cake.

Ted Williams, twice struck out by Lopat's "nothing" stuff, ruined his no-hit bid with a line single to center after one was out in the seventh.

A walk to Vern Stephens and Bobby Doerr's line single to left, the only other hit, provided Boston's lone run.

Taylor, the Sox's' $75,000 buy from Brooklyn's St. Paul farm, scotted through four scoreless innings. Four singles, an error, an intentional walk and a fly ball ruined him in the fifth.

Lopat struck out six and walked three.

INDIANS 4, TIGERS 2

DETROIT — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians' battery of Pitcher Early Wynn and Catcher Jim Hegan was too much for the Detroit Tigers.

Wynn led the Indians to a 4-2 win, their second straight in the youthful American league season, by limiting the Tigers to four hits. Hegan smashed a home run and three singles to drive in two runs in the 10-inning battle before 5,161 fans.

For six innings Dizzy Trout, 35-year-old Detroit righthander, handcuffed Cleveland. But with Detroit leading 2-0 in the seventh, Hegan singled home Bob Kennedy to break the spell.

Hegan's homer into the upper leftfield stands in the ninth sent the game into extra innings. In the tenth, Ray Boone singled home Larry Doby from second with the winning run. Kennedy then scored on an error for the game's final run.

Hal White relieved Trout, the losing pitcher, in the tenth inning.

BROOKS 4, PHILADELPHIA 3.

BROOKLYN—(AP)—Jim Konstanty's first relief appearance of the 1951 season proved disastrous as the Brooklyn Dodgers hopped on him for two ninth inning tallies to come from behind and defeat the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-3.

A slim, chilled gathering of 4,516 groaned when Konstanty, the National league's most valuable player in 1950, was summoned from the bullpen to relieve Starter (Emory (Bubba) Church in the bottom half of the ninth.

Jackie Robinson, who made only two hits off Konstanty all last year, pickled a second pitch for a single to bring in Snider, with the winning run. Konstanty was charged with the loss.

Roe, who bowed out for pinch-hitter Edwards in the ninth, was the winner, giving up seven hits.

Church, who had pitched a commendable game for eight innings, had indicated tiredness by walking pinch-hitter Hank Edwards, leading off in the Dodgers' half. The runner represented the tying run.

BOSTON 8, NEW YORK 5

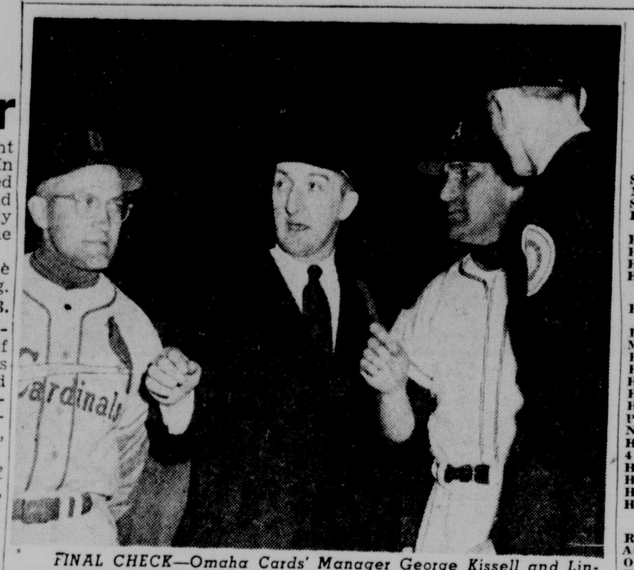

BOSTON—(AP)—Sam Jethroe's home run over the left field wall with two on and one out in the ninth inning broke a 5-all tie and gave the Boston Braves an 8-5 victory over the New York Giants before a slim gathering of 2,784.

The blow came off Southpaw Dave Koslo, who had just come in to relieve Allen Gettel, third New York hurler.

Gettel was charged with the defeat.

WASHINGTON 6, PHILA. 4

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The Washington Senators staged a three-run ninth inning rally for a 6-4 victory over Philadelphia's Athletics Wednesday night. Irv Noren tripled home a pair and Mickey Vernon's double accounted for the other as the Senators won their second straight from the A's.

Packers Nudge Links, 2-1, As Brazda, Debus In Hurler's Duel

BY JERRY MAPES
(Star Sports Staff Member)

LINCOLN high's Bill Debus and Omaha South's Pete Brazda staged a seven-inning pitching duel and the Links fell on the short end of a 2-1 score. Wednesday afternoon at the Muny diamond.

For the second straight day the Slezakmen were nipped by one run and for the second straight day it was the unearned variety that did the trick.

South started the fireworks in the top of the second inning as Houston gained a free pass to first, Ripa was safe on a hard-to-handle line drive bobble by the Links centerfielder Becker. Runners were sacrificed to second and third and scored as Stan Ebner couldn't quite handle Brazda's grass cuter down the first base line.

DEBUS SHINES

That was the end of the Packer scoring as Debus bore down on Coach Cornie Collins lads and handcuffed them with a total of three safeties while fanning six. With the exception of the disastrous second frame, Debus was well supported afield.

Lincoln got its lone marker in the third as Debus scored on Joe Carter's single.

Brazda, all-intercity timber in last year's warfare, whiffed nine Lincoln batsmen and allowed two bingos during his seven-inning stint. C. W. Perry produced the only extra base blow of the game as he doubled into left field in the first frame for the Red and Black.

Brazda contributed two of the three Packer singles allowed by Debus to lead his mates behind the plate.

Coach Slezak will send his crew against Creighton Prep Friday in an attempt to enter the win column.

SCANLON ABSENT

Lincoln was minus the services of regular catcher Don Scanlon in Wednesday's contest.

Scanlon, yeoman letterman from last year's nine, sustained a wrist fracture in the second inning of Tuesday's game with Benson. He played the entire game with the injury and hit safely in two trips.

BRUINS WIN

DES MOINES—(AP)—The Des Moines Bruins scored five runs in the first inning on only one hit and went on to take a 9-1 victory over Sioux City in the Western league baseball opener here Wednesday night.

Sioux City's Pitcher Hal Toenes was as cold as the 45-degree weather and started the game with four walks. A double by Paul Rutledge and two Soos errors helped the Bruins along. Bob Giddings replaced him at that point.

NEBRASKA CITY — Lincoln Teachers replaced Lincoln high as the class A champs in the Nebraska City Invitational track meet. Three meet records were broken and another tied.

Tarkio, Mo., won top honors in class B. They replaced Nebraska Deaf. The Links and Deaf did not attend this year's festival.

Coach Dale Snook's lads scored heavily in the closing events to rush past Pawnee City, Falls City, and TJ of Council Bluffs.

Mike Stubbs and Stan Matzke paced the Tutors to a 12 point advantage over second place Pawnee City.

Matzke set a new high jump record of six feet, won the mile in 4:57.5 and went 10 feet and 9 inches in the pole vault for that blue ribbon.

Stubbs swept the Class A dashes. He equaled the 100 yard dash with 10.4 and ran the 220 in 24.5, for first place. Brien Hendrickson, Lincoln High, is co-holder of the 100 yard dash.

Matzke and Stubbs also ran legs on the Tutors winning 880-yard relay team.

Duane Freeman of Tarkio was also a triple winner. He leaped 20 feet 7¾ inches in the broad jump to beat the old mark by three-quarters of an inch. He won first place in the 100 and 220 yard dash. His 10.5 set a new Class B record in the 100. The old record was 10.9. His 23.9 in the 220 also betters the old record of 24.2 in Class B.

LESLIE SECOND

Lincoln's second representative in the meet, College View scored nine points. Bob Leslie ran second in the mile run and a third and fourth in the discus and shot respectively by Durwood VanCleave along with a fourth in the high jump by Gary Lyon scored the nine point total.

Inactive Reserves To Be Released Next Fall

May Draft Quota Cut

Heavy Enlistments Permit Reductions

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The army Wednesday cut its May draft quota from 60,000 to 40,000 men and announced that all enlisted reserves called from the inactive list for Korean service will be released by Dec. 31.

Anna Rosenberg

Military authorities said the slash in the draft call was made possible by an upsurge in enlistments and the fact that Korean casualties "have continued substantially fewer than the estimates based on casualties sustained in earlier phases of the fighting."

These same reasons were cited when the armys April draft quota was slashed from 80,000 to 40,000 men. The June request is also expected to be 40,000.

Meanwhile, the defense department reported that its official total of American casualties in Korea stands at 60,775, an increase of 1,379 over last week.

The army said that reductions in selective service call-ups will not affect its plan to return reserves to civilian life "at the earliest possible date."

Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, assistant defense secretary in charge of manpower, told a house armed services subcommittee that the army expects to begin releasing its inactive reserves in September.

Other Branches

She announced this program for the other service branches:

Marine corps—Will start releasing inactive reserves in June and "plans that by July, 1952, no marine reservist will be serving on duty involuntarily."

Navy and air force—Will begin releasing inactive enlisted reserves in July, and "these men will be returning to civilian life in substantial numbers by October."

Mrs. Rosenberg emphasized, however, that all of these plans are dependent upon "there being no deterioration of the international situation."

One Bill Killed, Two Cleared By School Committee

The education committee of the legislature, in executive session Wednesday, killed one bill and advanced two to general file as they sought to clear their docket by the end of the week.

Indefinitely postponed was LB 404, providing changes in the terms of school boards in first class cities.

Advanced were LB 121, providing surety bonds for school bus drivers, and LB 499, authorizing sale of school lands needed for expansion of cities of the first or second class.

Settlement Made

A lump sum settlement of $2,360 to Leonard Throne, 130 L, against the Pierce D. Crawford Construction company was approved in District court on agreement of both parties. Throne alleged he suffered a severe back injury July 3, 1950.

Vote Registration Ends Friday Night

Registration for voting in the city's May 1 general election closes at 9 p.m. Friday. The office of the election commissioner will also be open until 9 p.m. on Thursday. Only those who are not registered or who have moved since their last registration need to do so again.

$403 Settlement—A lump sum settlement of $403 to Robert Edward Gillispie, 20, against the Olson Construction company was approved in District court Wednesday on agreement of both parties. Gillispie, employed as a laborer, alleged he injured his hand while working on a grain bin.

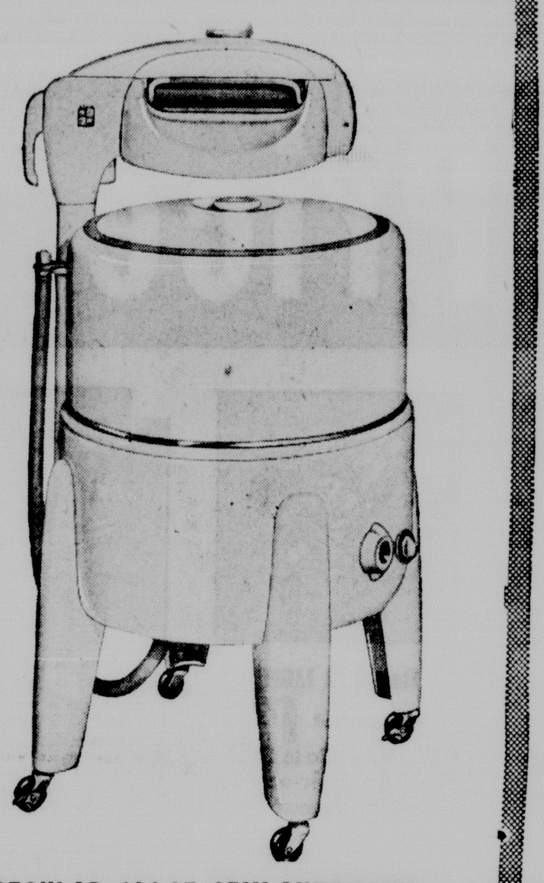

Compressor Bids — The Highway Equipment and Supply Company of Lincoln submitted the low bid of $2,640 at the city hall for furnishing the city water department an air compressor. Other bidders, all Omaha concerns, were the Anderson Equipment Company, $2,865; T. S. McShane Company, $2,975; Interstate Machinery and Supply Company, $3,360. The city's estimate was $3,700.

Bill Splitting N. U. Hospital Work OK'd

Counties Would Pay 2-5 Cost of Caring For Needy Patients

A step toward separation of the strictly hospital functions and the teaching and experience in treating of illness at the University of Nebraska hospital in Omaha is the aim of LB 115 passed by the legislature Wednesday. Sens. Hoyt and Williams were the introducers.

The bill provides that counties pay two-fifths of the cost, not exceeding $4 a day, for the care of needy patients at the hospital. The sending of patients to the hospital will be optional with the county boards.

The levy for the hospital care will not come within the 5-mill limitation but will be a state levy similar to that now imposed for care of patients in mental hospitals and feeble-minded.

Salary Bills

Under present operation, all costs of the hospital, whether valuable for medical school purposes or not, are charged to school operations.

Other bills passed included four salary bills and an appropriation for the merit system.

The list:

LB 115, Hoyt, Williams. Providing that two-fifths of the cost, not to exceed $4 a day, of care of needy patients at University hospital be paid by counties. 22-19.

LB 337, Douglas county delegation. Bringing Omaha school employes into state retirement system. 40-1.

LB 531, Budget. Appropriating $10,000 for merit system. 41-0.

LB 86, Peterson. Allowing board of control to fix warden's salary at penitentiary. 41-0.

LB 217, McKnight. Fixing adjutant general's pay at $6,600 and assistant adjutant general at $4,800. 32-7.

LB 297, Wilson, Cramer, Liebers. Increasing governor's secretary from $3,600 to $4,200 yearly. 32-7.

LB 33, Bridenbaugh, Hern, Shalla. Increasing secretary of state library commission from $3,000 to $3,600. 40-2.

Bond For Plaintiff Increased $3,000; Hearing Is May 16

The first court hearing Wednesday on a Lincoln resident's suit to prevent the city from purchasing 350 new parking meters had two developments.

1. The bond of the plaintiff, Donald A. Martin, 4912 Randolph, was increased by $3,000.

2. Hearing on the merits of the case was set for May 16.

Martin has until next Tuesday to post the additional $3,000 bond. If he does not, the temporary restraining order, now in effect, will be dissolved and the city could sign the contract for the meters.

The temporary restraining order was issued when Martin filed the suit April 7. It prevents the city from signing the contract, which has already been signed by the M. H. Rhodes, Inc., Hartford, Conn., the successful bidder to furnish the 350 meters.

The court required the additional bond after Russell Mattson, deputy city attorney, presented evidence that the city would lose revenue by the delay of purchasing and installing the meters.

Mattson said that between Jan. 1, 1950 and April 1, 1951, the average daily "take" on each meter in the city was 30 cents. The new meters would be installed on streets not now having meters.

The city council, by a four-to-three vote, accepted the bid of the Rhodes company March 26.

THE "Blush" OF THE BARLEY...

The individuality of flavor that distinguishes Old Style Lager starts with the barley . . . specially selected by our own experts at the very blush of top flavor. Barley is the soul of the beer. When choicest barley malt is skilfully combined with costly imported and domestic hops . . . when brewing is done with unhurried old-world care . . . when lagering (ageing) continues far longer than is usual in this country . . . then, and only then, can you expect a better beer—Old Style Lager beer! You'll love the smooth, the mild, the mellow taste of this fine light lager beer. Ask for Old Style Lager today. Always the same—always superb.

Truman To Set Up Wage Board

It Would Be Over Protest Of Industry

President Will Choose Six Members Each From Business, Labor, Public

BY FELIX COTTEN

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Government mobilization officials said Wednesday that President Truman will set up an 18-man wage stabilization board with power to pass on major labor disputes, despite emphatic industry protests.

The president is reported to be going ahead with the selection of members for the board. He will choose six members each from industry, labor and the public.

The president is understood to be anxious to get wage stabilization rolling. Therefore, it was said, an executive order may be issued Friday or Saturday creating the board.

Taylor Is Likely

George W. Taylor, a former chairman of the old war labor board, is said to be the most likely candidate for chairman of the new agency, which will supersede the existing ie-ma wage stabilizatio board.

This board has been inactive since mid-February, when labor members walked out after industry and public members approved the existing 10 per cent wage increase ceiling.

The president is reported ready to accept the recommendation of his 17-man mobilization advisory boardl and set up a anew agency of 18 members with power to handle disputes as well as wage stabilization questions. It would only make "recommendations" for settlement of disputes involving non-wage questions unless the contesting parties asked for binding decisions.

No Boycott

The president is said to be convinced that an agency with such powers would not violate the defense production act, as some industry leaders charge.

Creation of such a board will fly in the face of vigorous objections by the National Association of Manufacturers and the U.S. chamber of commerce.

However, management spokesmen have said they will not boycott any agency the president establishes.

Morrill Hall Shows Display Of Prints

A collection of 84 prints and the copper plates from which they are made is currently on display in the University of Nebraska art galleries in Morrill hall, fourteenth and U streets.

The exhibition, "A New Direction in Intaglio," was assembled and designed by the Walker Art Center of Minneapolis and is circulating over the country.

It will remain in the galleries through May 6 and be the subject of the regular Sunday gallery talks on April 22 and May 6. The first of these talks will be given at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in Gallery B by Rudolph Pozzatti of the university art faculty.

School Board Assn. Discusses Unicam Education Proposal

Members of the State School Boards association Tuesday night discussed the legislature's resolution asking for a legislative council subcommittee study of the three phases of education.

The meeting, at the Cornhusker hotel, was designed to look at the possibilities of the resolution. The three phases referred to in the resolution are retirement pay for teachers, supply of teachers and education of teachers.

The resolution was introduced by State Sens. Liebers and Cramer. As yet the legislative council hasn't been organized, so there will be no action on the resolution until the council is developed.

O'SHEA-ROGERS FORMALLY OPENS THURSDAY EVENING

Ford Dealers Complete Move to New Building

O'Shea-Rogers Motor Company will celebrate the formal opening of its new building at an open house Thursday evening, April 19, from 7 until 10 p.m.

The event will be open to the public, and according to Ed O'Shea and Dick Rogers, all friends, dealers and customers of the company are cordially invited to attend and join in the festivities.

O'Shea-Rogers now is even more deserving of the title of being the largest and most complete automotive center in the middle-west. The new building on the northeast corner of 14th and M streets in downtown Lincoln is a four-story affair, including the basement, and the entire building is filled with the latest and best facilities obtainable.

There are over eight thousand Ford car and truck owners in Lancaster county alone, and since most of these owners patronize O'Shea-Rogers, a large and well-coordinated operation is necessary to provide satisfactory, rapid service.

One Object in Mind

The physical plant, the facilities of equipment, and the service control system have all been designed with the sole purpose of providing satisfactory repair and maintenance work.

The many facilities housed on the various floors in the new building are coordinated by a Tower Dispatch System, whereby traffic throughout the entire building is controlled. An adequate intercommunication system and a pneumatic tube message system enables the tower operator to route and maintain contact with each job being performed. Exact schedules are worked out and followed, and jobs are invariably delivered to the customers when they have been promised.

Don't Miss the Big Opening Thursday Night

You'll be sorry if you fail to attend the formal opening of O'Shea-Rogers' new headquarters at the northeast corner of 14th and M streets Thursday evening from seven to ten.

You and the whole family are invited to inspect the entire building, and to look over the new Ford cars in the spacious display room. You'll really enjoy yourself.

New Service Includes a "Visualiner"

Adjusts, Keeps Wheel Alignment

High on the list of new equipment installed in the new O'Shea-Rogers operation is the Visualiner.

The Visualiner is a completely new piece of equipment for adjusting and maintaining proper wheel alignment and ease of steering.

Here's the way it works:

The angles at which the front wheels are set to provide ease in car handling are projected on a small screen to both the right and left, wherein an angle of one degree is magnified to four inches. This not only allows the mechanic to accurately adjust these angles of caster, camber and toe-in, but makes it possible for the customer to see that these adjustments are being properly made.

Conveniently Mounted

The equipment is so mounted that the mechanic conveniently works from a 30-inch pit, making all adjusting nuts and screws easily available.

This new Visualiner will mean a lot to patrons of O'Shea-Rogers. A car that has been tested and adjusted by the Visualiner will steer easier and handle safer. Perhaps the best advantage is that tires will no longer be subject to excessive wear.

The Visualiner is sure to be one of the handiest and most used facilities at O'Shea-Rogers' new location.

Paint Booths Will Duplicate Original Colors

On the third floor of the new building is another important part of the O'Shea-Rogers operation. It is the new DeVilbiss paint spray booth, which provides a completely dust-proof area for the proper application of synthetic enamels and lacquers.

The room is large enough to accommodate trucks as well as cars. Machines will come out of this paint spray booth looking just like new. Paint is sprayed on evenly and smoothly, just like the original coat is applied in the factory.

New Building Is Third Home of O'Shea-Rogers

Company's Operation Began At Eleventh and L in 1921

O'Shea-Rogers has had a long history in Lincoln—you could almost say it has grown up with the automobile's rise to popularity in this part of the country.

The company began operations thirty years ago—back in 1921—at the northwest corner of 11th and L streets. Expansion was rapid, and within two years the company had moved to a new location on the southwest corner of 14th and M streets, with total floor space almost six times as great as in the first building.

Property Added

Adjacent property was added to the O'Shea-Rogers operation through the years. The southwest corner of 14th and M remained the headquarters for the growing concern until early this month, when the new building was completed. Including the basement, this building has almost 85 thousand square feet of floor space, compared to 28,000 square feet in the older location.

In addition, the present O'Shea-Rogers operation includes the used car facilities on the southeast corner of 14th and M, and the new truck sales lot at the northeast corner of 14th and L streets.

Size and facilities of the new building make O'Shea-Rogers one of the largest and most complete automotive sales, service and repair centers in the entire nation. It is geared to providing adequate and satisfactory service to a large portion of the eight thousand Ford owners in this county and the many more who visit Lincoln from farther away.

Cordial Reception

The display floor and reception area in the new building is designed primarily to assure a comfortable and courteous greeting for Ford car and truck customers.

The sales offices, the business office, the cashier and retail parts counters have all been designed to provide maximum comfort for the customer and all the facilities which will give each customer prompt and efficient service.

Ed O'Shea, Dick Rogers Continue To Direct Firm They Organized

After thirty years that has seen the company they organized grow from a small operation into one of the largest automotive centers in the United States, Ed O'Shea and Dick Rogers are still on the job directing the fortunes of the O'Shea-Rogers Motor Company.

Willard Roessler acts now as general office manager. Recent appointments have made Harold J. Osborn general sales manager and Harry W. Meginnis assistant secretary-treasurer.

Department heads include:

Gene Tiehen, general manager of the service department;

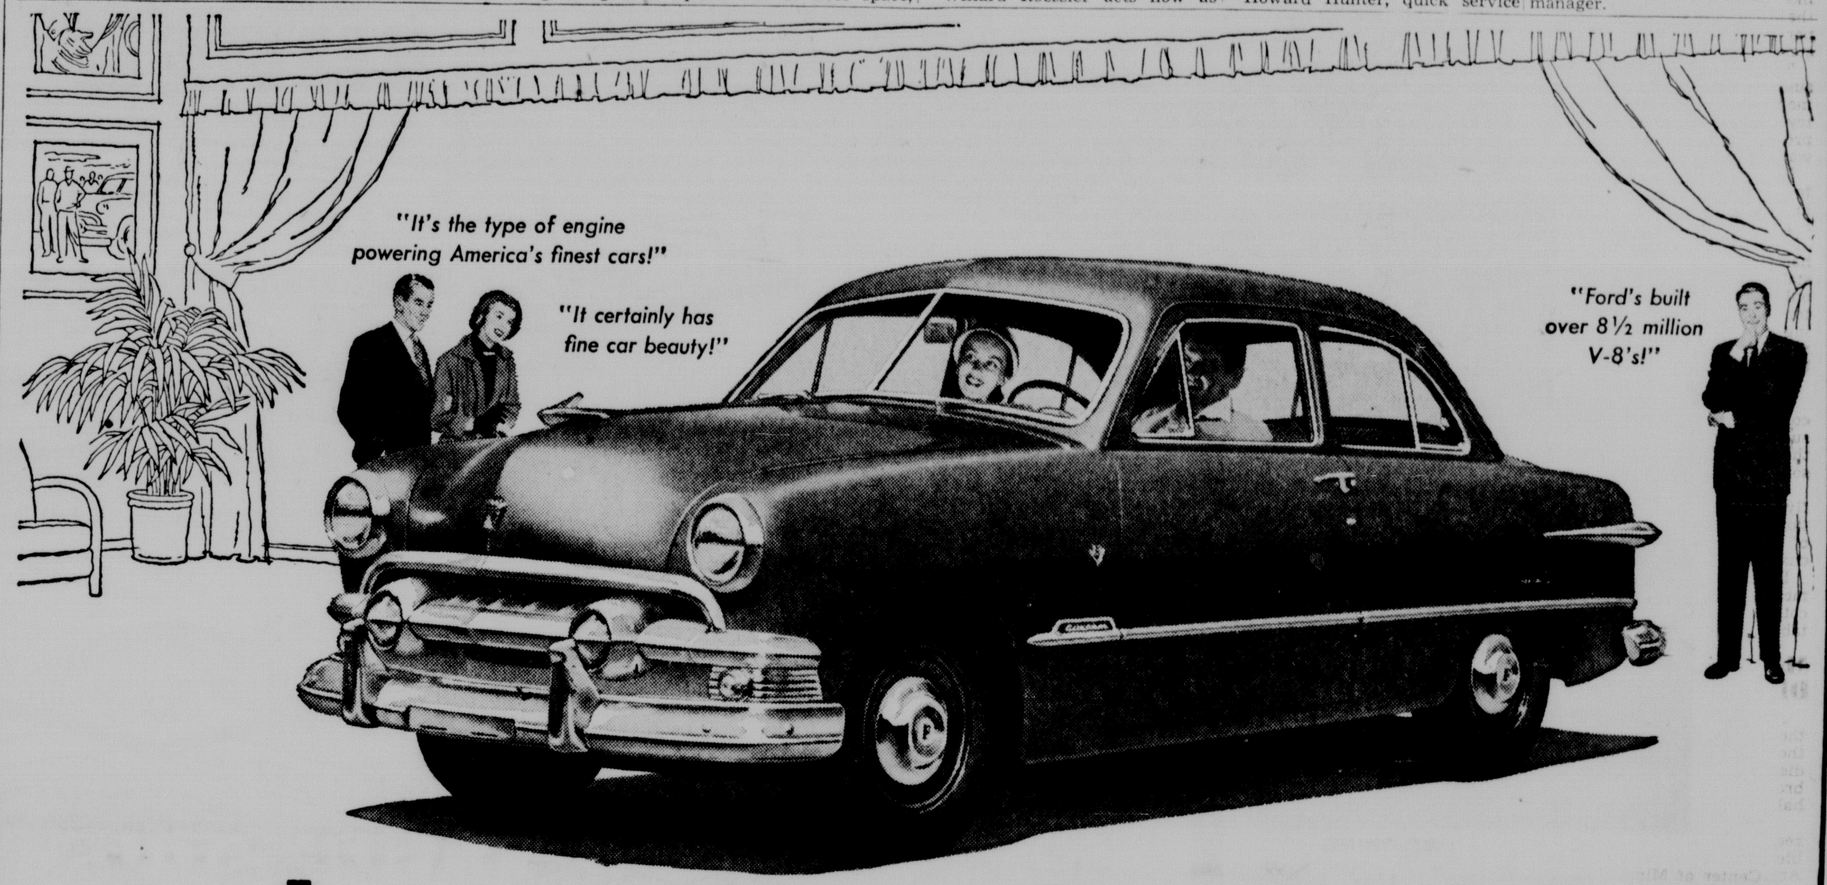

Howard Hunter, quick service department foreman and service sales manager;

Bob Fosbury, motor shop foreman;

Bill Hoagland, body and paint shop foreman;

Harold Van Burg, used car and truck department manager; and Deck Whalen, Ford truck sales manager.

O'SHEA-ROGERS CELEBRATES OPENING OF NEW BUILDING

"Open House" Scheduled For Thursday Evening

The largest and most complete automobile retail and distributing plant in the middle-west will enter a new phase of operation with the formal opening of the O'Shea-Rogers Motor Company at its new location on the northeast corner of 14th and M Streets in downtown Lincoln.

A complete inventory of new facilities and parts will assure the company's many customers and friends of the same efficient, courteous treatment which has always characterized O'Shea-Rogers service, said Ed O'Shea and Dick Rogers.

Facilities are brand new and built to exact Ford specifications. The company is geared to providing the best possible service to a large portion of the eight thousand Ford owners in Lancaster county and many more who visit Lincoln from greater distances.

The ultra-modern exterior of the building is more than matched by the swank, spacious lobby on the ground floor. The display floor is designed primarily to assure a comfortable reception for Ford car and truck customers.

The sales offices, the business office, the cashier's and the retail parts counters, have all been designed to provide maximum comfort for the customer. The elegant background merely emphasizes the high quality of Ford products and places them in an ideal environment so that their quality features may be more easily appreciated.

From just inside the front door, where completely new and efficient Alemite lubrication equipment pumps oils and greases directly to the engine parts without exposure to grit or dust, to the paint spray booth in the body shop on the third floor, no expense has been spared to provide the best possible facilities for the convenience of O'Shea-Rogers patrons.

Hydraulic hoists place cars and trucks in a handy position for lubrication, service and mechanical adjustment.

Electrical and testing units in the motor tune-up stalls determine whether an engine is performing properly, whether it will give economical gasoline mileage, and will assure that the fuel and ignition systems are properly coordinated.

The mechanics have been provided with efficient work benches that are pleasing to the eye and properly lighted.

The motor shop located on the second floor has been enlarged in size, with stalls for over twenty mechanics. Modern equipment includes traveling hoists, parts cleaning tanks, cylinder boring machines and all other items necessary for proper repair and overhaul operations.

Body, paint and radiator shops are on the third floor, providing adequate space for the restoration of damaged and wrecked cars. Bending, pounding and welding equipment makes the work easy, and the finished jobs look "just like new."

These various facilities are coordinated through a tower dispatch system for the control of traffic in the entire building. An adequate inter-communication system and a pneumatic tube message system enables the tower operator to route and maintain contact with each job being performed, so that completed jobs are delivered to the customers at the time promised.

All these improvements are provided for the sole purpose of satisfying customers with jobs properly and promptly performed.

A Tradition In Quality Service For 30 Years

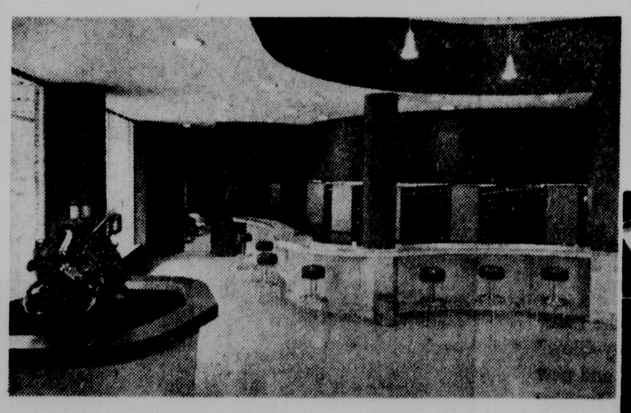

The O'Shea-Rogers Motor Company was organized as a partnership in 1921 between Mr. Edward M. O'Shea, who had been employed by the Nebraska Buick Automobile Company as Sales Manager, and Mr. Richard H. Rogers, who had recently moved to Lincoln from Minden, where he had been engaged in the banking business.

The first plant (pictured at left, second from top) was located on the northwest corner of 11th and L Streets. The building included a one-story office and service area, with approximately five thousand square feet.

This building was soon outgrown. In 1922, a two-story building (at top left) was built for this young company on the southwest corner of 14th and M Streets, having 28,000 square feet of floor space. This property was purchased from William Jennings Bryan, and was the location of "The Great Commoner's" first Lincoln home. With some additions of adjacent property throughout the month.

The new building includes three full floors and a basement, totaling almost 85,000 square feet of floor space. This is in addition to the used car facilities provided immediately south of this location, and the new truck sales lot in the one half block between L and M on the east side of 14th street.

Parts Department Located In Swank Lobby Area

O'Shea-Rogers acts as distributors as well as retailers of genuine Ford parts and accessories. The parts department is located at the north end of the beautiful, spacious lobby.

Casual trade and mail order and telephone business is handled at the parts counter. An important part of the parts business is providing these same genuine Ford products to the independent garage operations throughout southeastern Nebraska. These customers look to O'Shea-Rogers as their source of supply from within a radius of more than 50 miles of Lincoln.

A complete assortment of small parts is provided in the parts bins immediately to the rear of the parts counter. In addition, a large area in the basement, equipped with specially built racks and shelves, houses larger and harder-to-handle parts, such as hoods, fenders, wheels and gear housings.

The list price value of these parts and accessories is in excess of a quarter of a million dollars, maintained for the convenience of retail and wholesale customers.

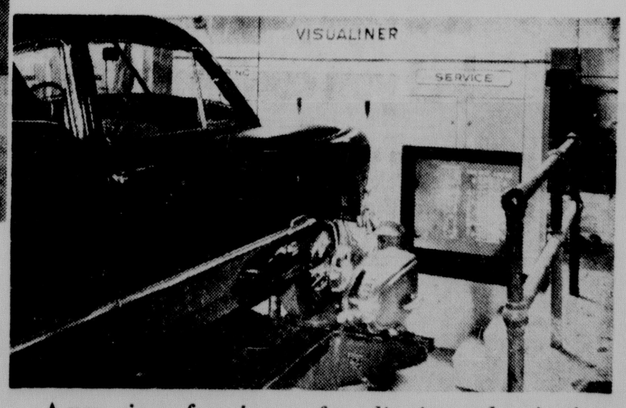

Special Paint Booth Assures Rapid Service

The paint shop in O'Shea-Rogers new building is located on the third floor. The room is large enough to accommodate trucks as well as cars, and the modern DeVilbiss paint spray booth provides a completely dust-free area for the proper application of synthetic enamels and lacquers.

Cars and trucks will come out of this paint spray booth looking like new. The paint is sprayed on evenly and smoothly just like the original coat applied in the automobile factory. There is nothing like a wonderful paint job to give your aging car a completely new, fresh look.

Amazing Alignment Machine Installed

A new piece of equipment for adjusting and maintaining proper wheel alignment and steering ease, called the "Visualiner," has been installed at O'Shea-Rogers.

The angles at which the front wheels are set to provide ease in car handling are projected on a small screen on both right and left, wherein an angle of one degree is magnified to four inches on the screen. This makes it possible for the customer as well as the mechanic to see that necessary adjustments are properly made.

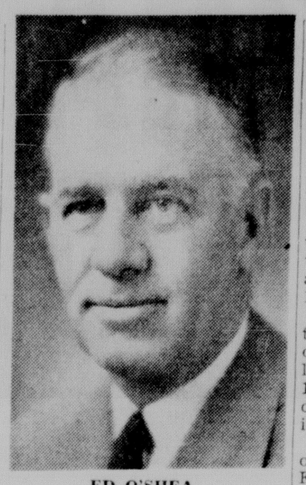

Maintaining proper wheel alignment provides ease in steering, safety in handling, and freedom from excessive tire wear.

O'Shea-Rogers Third Move Marks Growth Of Company

Continued expansion of the O'Shea-Rogers Motor Company is marked by the third move to new headquarters for Ford automobiles in 30 years of Lincoln business. The formal opening of the new sales and service quarters at the northeast corner of 14th and M streets will be held Thursday evening.

Annually since 1930, the enterprise of Edward M. O'Shea and Richard H. Rogers has ranked among the top 25 Ford Motor Company agencies in the United States in general business volume.

In August, 1921, a partnership was formed for the purpose of entering the Ford business by O'Shea and Rogers. And, from that beginning at the northwest corner of 11th and L streets, the partnership has grown until today as a corporation they occupy 85 thousand square feet of building space.

ED O'SHEA

DICK ROGERS

Razed Lincoln Landmark

It took less than two years for O'Shea-Rogers to outgrow their first headquarters. In late 1922 they purchased the home of William Jennings Bryan at the southwest corner of 14th and M streets, razed the Lincoln landmark, and erected a new two-story building, boosting their business space from five thousand to 28 thousand square feet.

Continued growth made these quarters too cramped to render the maximum service. After 27 years at this location O'Shea-Rogers purchased the three-story Kinsey building across the intersection for $150 thousand last year from C. W. D. Kinsey and commenced renovation last fall.

The Kinsey building was constructed in 1926 by Col. Frank D. Eager as a three-story storage garage ouccpying a one-half bock square lot.

Kinsey was the building's first tenant, renting the corner for a Goodyear dealership. During the next 23 years, Kinsey continued as a tenant and finally owner of the building.

O'Shea-Rogers dissolved their partnership in 1946 and were chartered as a corporation by the state of Nebraska. The relative interests in the business remain the same as 30 years ago.

Ford Motor Company and O'Shea-Rogers have made numerous additional investments in Lincoln over the years.

Ideal Setup

"On paper our new setup is ideal," say O'Shea and Rogers. Every device that is necessary or might be needed to provide service is available in the new Ford building.

O'Shea-Rogers can now service twice the number of vehicles that they were able to handle a month ago in the old structure built in 1922.

Their retail service in downtown Lincoln covers a full block of space, including a used car lot on the southeast corner of 14th and M, truck and commercial department, and parts service.

In 1940, O'Shea-Rogers took on the wholesale distribution of Ford tractors and tractor equipment for Nebraska, western Iowa and southern South Dakota, headquartering in Omaha. Shortly after they assumed similar distribution for North Dakota, western Minnesota and northern South Dakota.

By 1948 O'Shea-Rogers were able to provide facilities for these interests in Lincoln, sacrificing a better railhead for better handling facilities, boosting business in Lincoln. A new building was erected on No. 17th street, and today houses the wholesale tractor business.

Wholesale parts distribution for Ford cars and trucks in south-central Nebraska is another O'Shea-Rogers undertaking.

A second Lincoln landmark was removed in the expansion of O'Shea-Rogers. The hospital of early Lincoln, Drs. J. O. and M. H. Everett, known as the Lincoln Sanitarium, at 14th and M streets was purchased in 1939.

The familiar O'Shea-Rogers building is now being rejuvenated and is rented to Morrow Motors, Lincoln and Mercury dealer, for their automobile sales and service.

Morrow Motors move to the new location will provide Lincoln with another storage garage. William Deneke has leased the site.

O'Shea-Rogers Has Best Used Cars, New Trucks

Company Is Well Known For Top Used Car Values

Important parts in the new O'Shea-Rogers operation are the used car and truck department and the Ford truck sales department.

The used car and truck department is located on the southeast corner of 14th and M streets. It is managed by Harold Van Burg, who has been associated with Ford products for almost thirty years.

Spacious used car and truck facilities insure proper unit reconditioning and cordial customer service. O'Shea-Rogers does not offer for sale a used car or truck that is not in the very best possible condition. Every one of the machines in this department is priced to sell quickly, so O'Shea-Rogers customers can be sure of a good deal.

The Ford truck sales operation occupies the quarter block on the northeast corner of 14th and L streets, and is under the direction of Sales Manager Deck Whalen.

The truck sales facilities provide ample parking space for a large assortment of Ford bonus-built trucks ranging in size from half-ton pick-ups and panels to the largest F-8 trucks and tractors, with a capacity of up to 20 tons.

Paul Dittoe and Bob Ronk, Ford truck specialists, are on hand to provide technical information covering truck requirements and specifications.

Newest Facilities Make Plant More Efficient

Entire Operation Coordinated: Work Will Be Done On Time

Exact and standard Ford specifications are the model on which all O'Shea-Rogers facilities have been built and installed. Almost all the equipment in the new building is brand new—practically none of the previously-used equipment has been moved in or utilized.

No expense has been spared to provide the best possible facilities in all departments of the revised operation.

Hydraulic hoists place cars and trucks in a handy position for lubrication and service as well as mechanical adjustment on the underside of the chassis, on the axles and on the drive mechanism.

Tune-Up Stalls

The engine tune-up stalls include testing equipment to determine whether the ignition, fuel system and other parts are correctly adjusted. Other electrical testing units determine if the engine is performing properly and if it will give economical gasoline mileage. These units will also make sure that the fuel and ignition systems are well coordinated.

Efficient and eye-pleasing work benches have been installed for the mechanics. The entire work area has been carefully lighted, for the benefit of the customer as well as of the mechanics.

Enlarged Motor Shop

The motor shop located on the second floor has been enlarged in size, with stalls for over twenty mechanics. Modern equipment includes traveling hoists, parts cleaning tanks, cylinder boring machines and many other items necessary for proper and complete repair and overhauling operations. Plenty of storage space is available for customers' cars before and after work has been done.

Body, paint and radiator shops are located on the third floor, providing adequate space for the time-consuming operation of restoration of damaged and wrecked cars. Complete bending, pounding and welding equipment makes the finished jobs look just like new.

O'Shea-Rogers Loses Three Men to Service

Three prominent men associated with O'Shea-Rogers have recently been called to the service.

Col. Junge

Col. Carl L. Junge, vice-president in the company, will serve on the staff of Brig. Gen. George Olmsted of Des Moines, deputy chief of staff, G-4, for Foreign Military Aid. Col. Junge acted as civil affairs officer for Gen Olmsted in China during the last war, after completing a tour of duty as base commander of the Hastings Air Base in India, headquarters of the U.S. Air Force. He has been a reserve officer for almost thirty years.

Major Coy

Major Donald E. Coy departed recently for his new station at the Dow Air Force Base at Bangor, Me. He is executive officer of the 132nd Air Base Group federalized April 1 and now a part of the strategic air command. He was a bombardier in the European theater during World War II. He was office and credit manager for O'Shea-Rogers.

Lt. Kimmel

Lt. Kimmel left with Major Coy as motor transportation officer of the 173rd fighter squadron, federalized as above. He was retail car sales manager for O'Shea-Rogers.

Bowden Predicts Labor, Ag Will Fight Controls

OMAHA — (AP) — Executive Vice President Ray B. Bowden of the National Grain and Feed Dealers association predicted that labor and agriculture will join forces in the fight against the price control program.

He made the statement in an address before the Nebraska Grain and Feed Dealers association.

Bowden said it seems certain that agriculture is going to oppose an extension of controls past June 30, although labor's position is not yet definite.

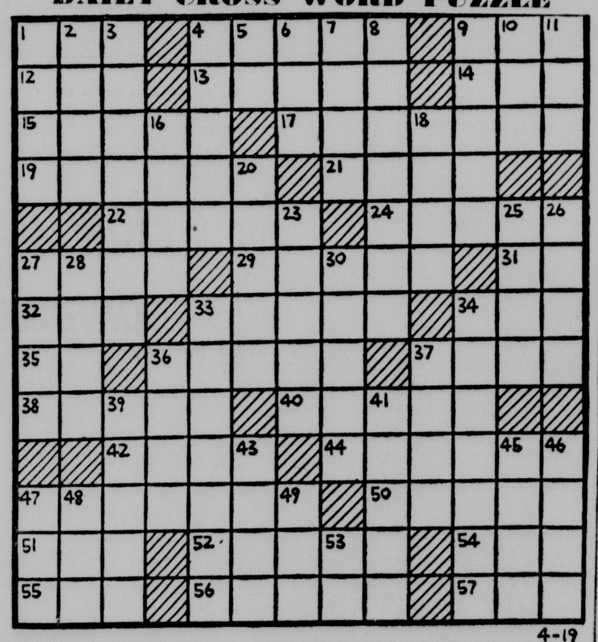

"If price controls are continued," he added, there will be a strong effort in congress to roll back prices to consumers and then keep prices high to producers by subsidies."

He described this action as "the Brannan plan coming in the back door."

Bowden had his own formula: "Tighten credit and increase taxes enough and you don't need price controls . . ."

Stocks Make Few Gains

NEW YORK—(AP)—In a highly selective display of strength, the stock market Wednesday managed to make a little progress.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 10 cents to $95.80. The industrial component was up to 40 cents while the rails dropped off 10 cents and the utilities were unchanged.

Out of the 1,1124 individual issues traded 482 advanced and 376 declined, with 51 new highs and 26 new lows.

But at the same time it must be noted that not one of the 15 most active issues declined.

Curb prices which were mostly higher included Lionel Corp., Molybdenum, Standard Power & Light, Aluminum Co. of America, American Republics, Creole Petroleum, and Fanstell Metallurgical. Volume was 450,000 shares as against 370,000 shares Tuesday.

Chicago Livestock

CHICAGO—(AP)—Hogs and cattle prices moved higher Wednesday but lambs were mostly $1 lower in response to dropping wool prices.

Most hogs were 15c to 25c higher. Butcher weights took $19.25 to $21.25 and a top mark of $21.35. Sows were $17.25 to $19.75. Receipts of 8,000 were well cleared and amounted to about 1,000 fewer than expected by the trade.

A steady to 50c higher tone prevailed in cattle and calves. Most commercial to low-prime steers took $32.50 to $40.00 and prime kinds were $40.50 to $42.00. Good and choice heifers ranged from $33.00 to $37.00, one load of choice to prime grade going to $38.00. Commercial cows were as high as $30.00, sausage bulls $32.50, and prime vealers $40.00.

Good and choice Colorado-fed wooled lambs did better than $38.50, while spring lambs were absent. Ewes continued steady at $22.50 and below on wooled and $18.50 on shorn offerings.

Among available supplies were an estimated 8,500 cattle, 300 calves, and 1,000 sheep.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK — (AP) — Federal reserve board support buying brought temporary stability to government bonds Wednesday after some issues had dropped 18/32 of a point.

Sales totaled $3,330,000 par value, compared with $3,780,000 Tuesday.

Wheat, Lard, Soybeans Dip

CHICAGO—(AP) — A little hedging pressure, caused by an expansion in cash wheat receipts at terminals, sufficed to drop wheat for losses averaging around a cent on the board of trade Wednesday.

Soybeans and lard also dipped, but the rest of the market was steady enough without showing any great strength. A slight buying movement developed in corn just before the final gong, closing that grain at its best prices for the day.

Wheat closed ½-1¼ lower, corn ⅝-½ higher, oats unchanged to ¼ higher, rye (old style) 1½ lower to ⅝ higher, soybeans unchanged to 1½ lower and lard 5 to 15 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Wheat definitely was coming out of the country in greater volume. Receipts at 12 principal interior markets Wednesday day totaled 1,234,000 bushels against 972,000 a week ago and 571,000 a year ago. Producers have until April 30 to redeem wheat now held under the government loan, and to offer it on the free market.

Cash corn receipts were not large and prices advanced around a cent in the spot market. That was one reason for corn's independent firmness, as was a report that downstate Illinois elevators have shipped a good part of their corn supply to market as a result of an easing in the tight box car situation.

Somewhat more favorable weather prevailed for oats seeding in the Mid-West, but the outlook over the next several days was not considered too bright. Some grain men think part of the acreage intended for oats will go to soybeans rather than corn. That was one reason for the slightly easier trend in beans.

'Service Is One's Price For Space'

Women Must Take On Responsibility, Jewish Women Told

"Service is the price you pay for the space you occupy, and in America we are occupying pretty choice space," Mrs. Louis Pollock Wednesday told a meeting of Lincoln's Council of Jewish Women.

Speaking as a member of the southwest region of the national council, Mrs. Pollock emphasized to the Lincoln section that democracy begins at home.

"The women in every community," she said, "can take their share of responsibility to make democracy work, and women have got to serve.

'No Parasites'

"We no longer can act as parasites."

Mrs. Pollock, who is vice president of the Denver council of social agencies and member of the governor's board of standards of child care, emphasized the need of women to do community service.

She explained the international phases of work in which the council has provided scholarships to 65 girls from 11 countries in fields of dietetics, nursing, group work, and social service.

UNESCO said of the program that it is "one of the most interesting experiments in international understanding ever to be done."

Work In Homelands

Upon completion of their training, Mrs. Pollock said the girls return to their homelands and carry on the work for which they were trained.

The national program of the council is directing its efforts toward expanding the findings of the White House conference on children and youth in the phases of mental health.

The council is attempting, Mrs. Pollock pointed out, to adjust mental hygeine to lay understanding in a program of education for action.

Election Results

Prior to Mrs. Pollock's address, which took place at the home of Mrs. Abe Novicoff, Lincoln, election results were announced for council leaders for the following year.

They are;

Mrs. Stuart Goldberg president; Mrs. F. Ted Perlman, first vice president; Mrs. Sheldon Kushner, second vice president; Mrs. Sidney Levy, secretary; Mrs. Leo Hill, corresponding secretary; Mrs. D. David Nefsky, treasurer; Mrs. Ben Polsky, parliamentarian and Mrs. Norman Levy, former president, section auditor.

Farmers Urged To Build Storage

Nebraska farmers are liable to be faced with a small grain storage problem this year if more granaries are not built.

University of Nebraska agricultural engineers suggest that farmers planning to build storage facilities should incorporate the latest ideas into their construction.

They urge the construction of a 1,700 bushel four-bin granary 16' x 24' with 8' studs. Four 8' x 8' bins and 8' x 16' seed cleaning space are provided.

This farm-built storage can be constructed with a frame or concrete floor. The walls are drop siding over shiplap sheathing with building paper between. Roof is covered with wood shingles over shingle lath. The bins can be filled through the roof hatch or gable ends.

One of the new features of this plan are the metal stud anchors used to keep the lower ends of the studs from "kicking out." The anchor can be made on the job with galvanized iron.

Bennet Farmers Protest Condition Of Mail Routes

A delegation of six Bennet farmers protested the condition of two miles of mail route roads to the county commissioners.

The men wanted to know why the county had never graded and graveled the two miles as a part of the mail route program.

County Engineer L. W. Weaver pointed out that the miles at each end of a mail route are graveled first and that these two miles, the 20th and 21st from the end of the route, would not be reached for a year or two.

Just before the six men appeared, the county board awarded contracts for grading 35 miles of mail route roads. Weaver said these contracts would complete the 13th through 17th miles.

The men also protested that at one spot in the road, approximately five miles southwest of Bennet, only 11 feet of the road could be traveled.

Appearing were J. H. Meyer, Louis Baade, John Deiden, Bill Betzer, E. F. Roder and William Wunderlich.
